Zeus Called Jonah, the Fisher King, to rise. \(PDF Version\) \(Index pg 52\)

This is the full celestial back drop behind the Zeus bolt of 9/10/12 5:30 AM UTC.

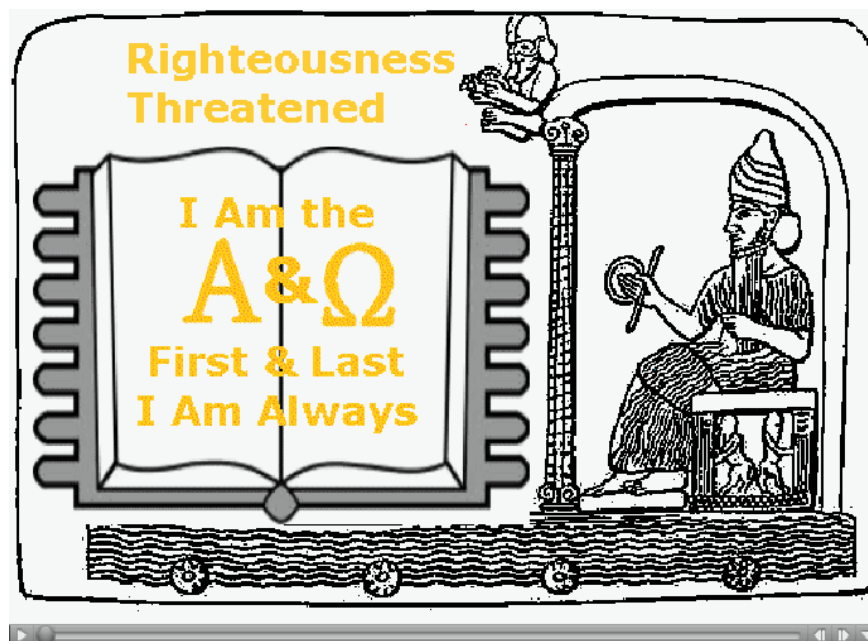

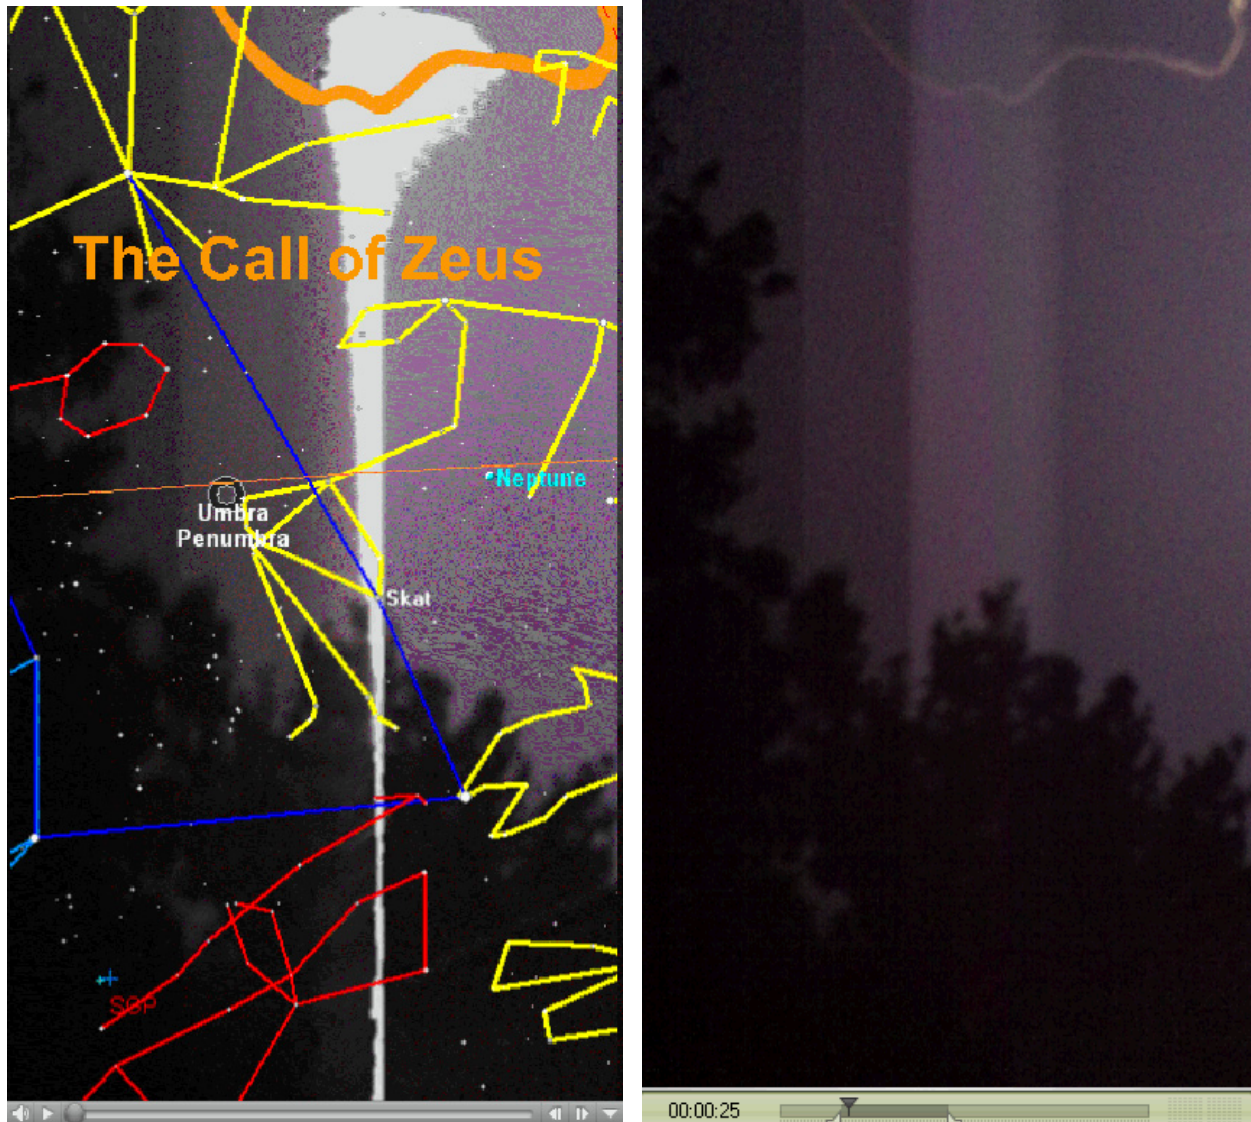

The location is under Al Buraq, Muhammad's steed given to him by Perseus and Mithras.

The bow drawn by the lightning bolt in the cloud at Hemet is the orange line between Al Buraq and Huitzilopochtli (Pegasus and Delphinus). Huitzilopochtli was the Wannabe Warrior of the Aztecs.

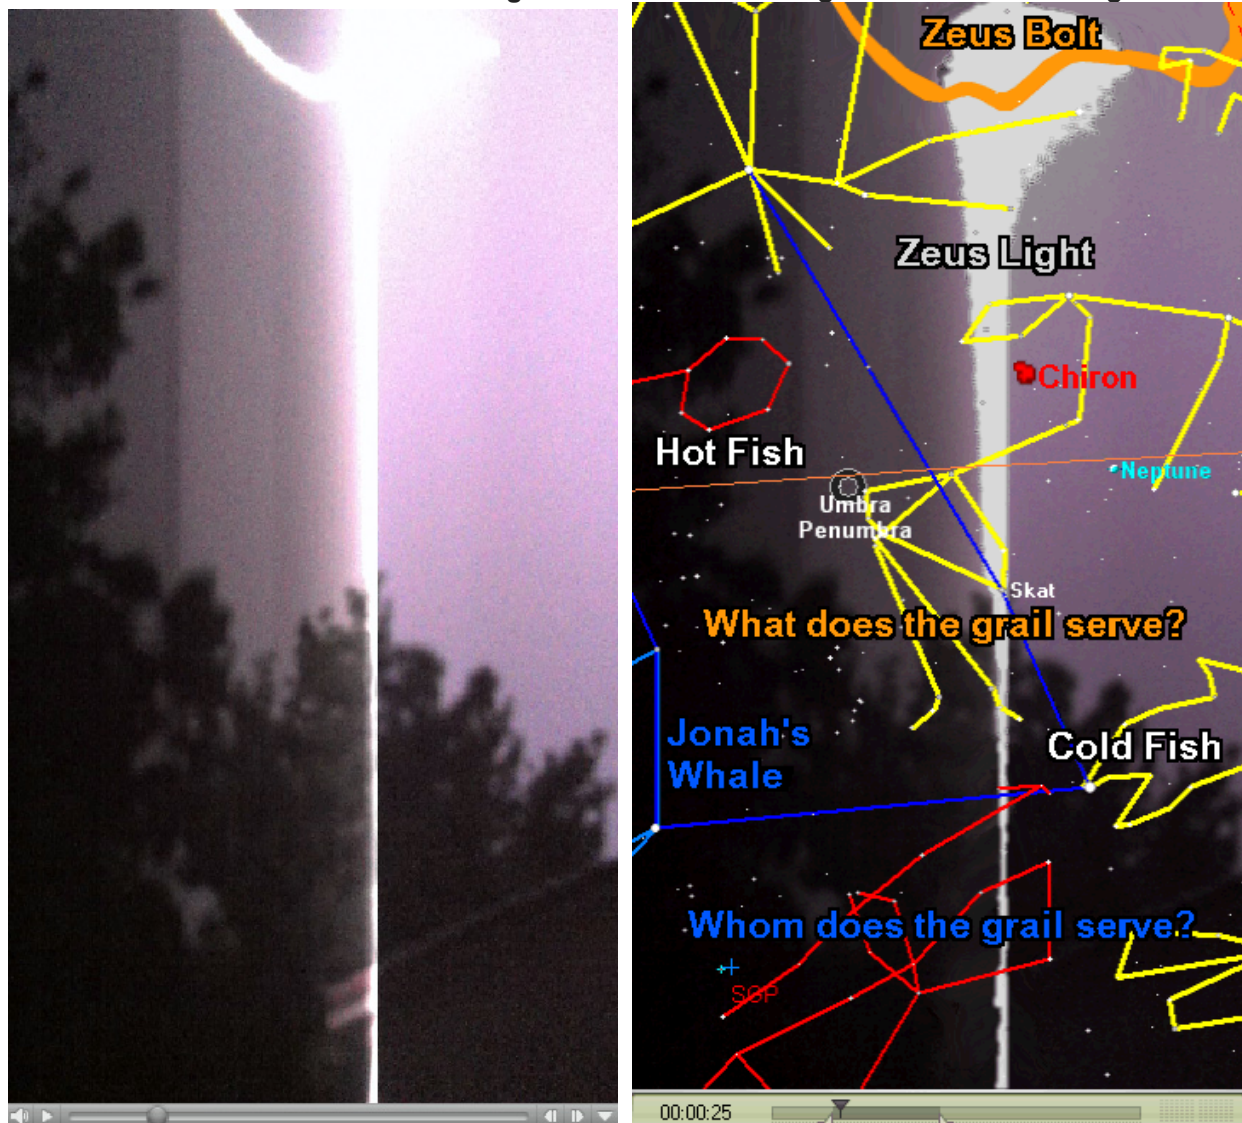

Above the bolt is Cygnus, the Swan, into which Zeus turned himself before consummating the Bipolar Sons of Leda in a Greek Kumbayah.

Below is the dynamic projection of the bolt and the heavens frame by frame, with the still image of the frame after the bolt on the right.

Below is the full iPhone recording with the celestial background added to the right.

So, what is the meaning of the Zeus Bolt and the Arrow of Light that it sent to the ground? The answer was reported, though not fully understood, by Dr. Jack Lin, PhD, Depth Psychology in his dissertation while still a neophyte of celestial mythology regarding the Cosmic Source of all profound celestial myths preserved by humanity. The specific story is that of Jonah as the Fisher King, a profoundly common and ancient theme in the religions and myths of humanity.

It is very important to understand that while reading the dissertation I was struck with the need to preserve the Great Father of Greece, Zeus, from the heresy of another "guru in training" of the Age of Enlightenment bound by the bondage of Dr. Carl Gustav Jung. I was reading the dissertation on my patio when a thundershower passed overhead. I took my iPhone and began recording a video of all the lights and sounds.

At 25.82 seconds into my iPhone amusement with the thunderstorm, my total attention was peaked by a cloud to cloud bolt that occurred almost directly over the house to the south of mine. Exactly 0.84 seconds after the bolt passed the house the thunderclap began. The delay represents the time difference between the bolt passing and the sound arriving at the iPhone. For a speed of sound of 1150 feet per second the distance would be 966 feet. The thunder lasted for 30 seconds and then a car horn carried on for some time. I was stunned by the Synchronicity of my reading and the thunderbolt.

Here is part of the final presentation in Dr. Lin's dissertation where he recommends that CEOs must find a way and return to their spiritual foundations for the sake of the Zeus Archetype, circa 2003.

PSYCHOLOGICAL FORCES IMPINGING UPON AMERICAN CEOS AND THEIR RELATIONSHIP WITH ARCHETYPES

Johnson (1993) believes that we all suffer so deeply from the fisher king's wounds that we do not even recognize our wound. He believes that in order for us to become more aware (more conscious) of our individuality, we sacrifice our feeling function (our relationship to nature). We won the prize of freedom, science, and romanticism. This process, says Johnson, started in the 12th century. If we had not changed, we would still be in a more backward state (much like those in the third world today). Johnson understands this was a wonderful progression of human potential, but he believes we paid a very dear price.

The grail myth comes from a period of great change (the 12th century.) It is a very important myth for the CEO since it tells of the power and powerlessness of the king (CEO).

Johnson explains the actions of the main character (Percival) from a psychological viewpoint. At the beginning, Percival reminds us of the "fool" in the tarot deck. He is innocent and does not perceive danger. He is a prototype for man to change from innocence to the pragmatism of today. Johnson (1993) writes;

Often when a new era begins in history, a myth for that era springs up at the same time. The myth is sort of a preview of what is to come, and it contains sage advice for coping with the psychological elements of the time. (p. 7)

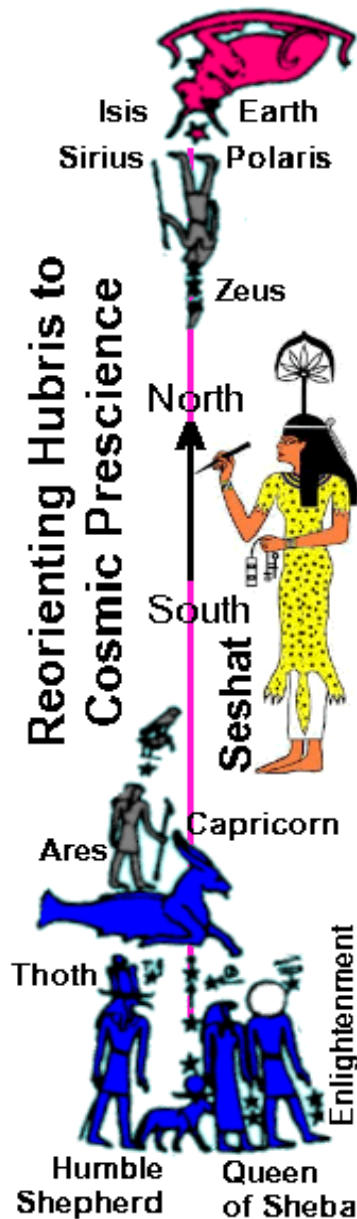

In the myth the wounded king has been hurt from eating a hot piece of fish.

"Why is this?" Johnson (1993) rhetorically asks. Johnson answers that the king, when a boy, touched something of a spiritual nature (fish is a symbol of Christ) that was beyond his understanding. Every boy, believes Johnson, has this experience. He grows to manhood and maturity, but only while in his youthful age can he (Percival) cure his wound. Undoubtedly, Percival is utilized in this role since he is a very young knight. The king's wound is so deep that he cannot move, but is carried on a litter. The entire kingdom is infertile. The only time the king feels well is when he is fishing, which Johnson interprets as being in the water, or being in, and with, the unconscious. Percival, whose job is to heal the king, can do so, according to the myth, by simply asking a question, "What does the grail serve?"

During Percival's first visit to the grail castle, he is so overwhelmed by the surroundings, he cannot speak, and the fisher king remains wounded. After experiencing many adventures and gaining maturity, Percival again has the opportunity to visit this castle. This time he asks, "Whom does the grail serve?" This question frees the fisher king.

So, what TIME IS IT?

Matthew 12:37-50 : Douay-Rheims Bible

37 For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.

38 Then some of the scribes and Pharisees answered him, saying: Master we would see a sign from thee.

39 Who answering said to them: An evil and adulterous generation seeketh a sign: and a sign shall not be given it, but the sign of Jonas the prophet.

40 For as Jonas was in the whale's belly three days and three nights: so shall the Son of man be in the heart of the earth three days and three nights.

41 The men of Ninive shall rise in judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: because they did penance at the preaching of Jonas. And behold a greater than Jonas here.

42 The queen of the south shall rise in judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold a greater than Solomon here.

43 And when an unclean spirit is gone out of a man he walketh through dry places seeking rest, and findeth none.

44 Then he saith: I will return into my house from whence I came out. And coming he findeth it empty, swept, and garnished.

45 Then he goeth, and taketh with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter in and dwell there: and the last state of that man is made worse than the first. So shall it be also to this wicked generation. (Ogdoad of Shamash)

46 As he was yet speaking to the multitudes, behold his mother and his brethren stood without, seeking to speak to him.

47 And one said unto him: Behold thy mother and thy brethren stand without, seeking thee.

48 But he answering him that told him, said: Who is my mother, and who are my brethren?

49 And stretching forth his hand towards his disciples, he said: Behold my mother and my brethren.

50 For whosoever shall do the will of my Father, that is in heaven, he is my brother, and sister, and mother.

June 23, 2012 Innocence of Bin Laden Screened

On June 23, 2012 the movie was screened once under the name, "Innocence of Bin Laden," to an audience of under 10 at The Vine Theater, which rents space for private screenings, on Hollywood Boulevard, Los Angeles, CA.

Innocence of Muslims, previously called Desert Warriors and Innocence of Bin Laden, is a 2012 anti-Muslim film about Muhammad. The trailers for the film, after they were dubbed into Arabic, were cited during the attacks on U.S. diplomatic missions on September 11, 2012. One of these attacks was the storming of the United States Embassy in Cairo, Egypt. The other attacks were in Benghazi, Libya and were primarily directed at the United States consulate, which suffered at least four deaths of U.S. diplomatic personnel, including Ambassador Christopher Stevens.

A timeline of events surrounding attacks on US facilities in Mideast

TUESDAY, SEPT. 11

6:17 a.m. Embassy in Cairo releases a statement that read in part: "The Embassy of the United States in Cairo condemns the continuing efforts by misguided individuals to hurt the religious feelings of Muslims — as we condemn efforts to offend believers of all religions. . . . Respect for religious beliefs is a cornerstone of American democracy. We firmly reject the actions by those who abuse the universal right of free speech to hurt the religious beliefs of others." (emphasis added)

1:41 p.m. Associated Press alert: "Egyptian Islamist protesters angry over film scale US Embassy wall in Cairo and tear down flag."

7:43 p.m. Associated Press alert: "Libyan security official says 1 American shot dead, another wounded in attack on US consulate."

10:09 p.m. Mitt Romney's campaign releases a statement from Romney, embargoed until midnight in an apparent effort to avoid criticizing President Obama on the Sept. 11 anniversary. "I'm outraged by the attacks on American diplomatic missions in Libya and Egypt and by the death of an American consulate worker in Benghazi. It's disgraceful that the Obama Administration's first response was not to condemn attacks on our diplomatic missions, but to sympathize with those who waged the attacks."

10:23 p.m. Associated Press alert: "Clinton says State Department officer killed in attack on US consulate in Libya."

10:24 p.m. Romney campaign lifts the embargo.

11:04 p.m. ABC News posts an article that says "An administration official tells ABC

News that ‘no one in Washington approved that statement before it was released and it doesn’t reflect the views of the US government.’”

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 12

12:01 a.m. Reince Priebus, chairman of the Republican National Committee, tweets, “Obama sympathizes with attackers in Egypt. Sad and pathetic.”

12:09 a.m. Obama campaign spokesman Ben LaBolt responds to Romney’s statement: “We are shocked that, at a time when the United States of America is confronting the tragic death of one of our diplomatic officers in Libya, Governor Romney would choose to launch a political attack.” (emphasis added, curious Synchronicity with Zeus Bolt)

6:03 a.m. AP news alert: “Libyan officials: US ambassador and 3 other Americans killed in attack on Benghazi consulate.”

7:21 a.m. White House issues statement from Obama, which read in part: “I strongly condemn the outrageous attack on our diplomatic facility in Benghazi, which took the lives of four Americans, including Ambassador Chris Stevens. Right now, the American people have the families of those we lost in our thoughts and prayers.”

10:17 a.m. Romney issues comments on camera before an event in Jacksonville, Fla. “It’s a terrible course for America to stand in apology for our values,” Romney said. “Apology for America’s values is never the right course.”

10:43 a.m. Obama goes to the Rose Garden to issue a statement. He takes no questions, and doesn’t mention Romney.

Afternoon In interview with CBS, Obama said, “There’s a broader lesson to be learned here: Governor Romney seems to have a tendency to shoot first and aim later. And as president, one of the things I’ve learned is you can’t do that — it’s important for you to make sure that the statements that you make are backed up by the facts and that you’ve thought through the ramifications before you make them.” (emphasis added, which is the Parthian Shot?)

So why was the Sign of Jonah presented to the whole world on the 11th anniversary of the most heinous act of war that was ever perpetrated on the United States of America?

THE SIGN OF JONAS

it: because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold a greater than Solomon here.

Do the men need to do penance?

And who will preach to them, American CEOs whom they consider Great Satans?

First, we need to understand that the archetype that the Muslims follow is that of Shamash, the ancient demiurge of Sumer after 12,000 years of transcendence. His message is that Judgment Day is coming and only those who are prepared will avoid damnation. Long ago the Son of Darkness was called Nibiru. He it is who will bring down Gog and Magog on The Last Day according to Ezekiel 39:6 and Revelation 20:8.

Obama: I won't release bin Laden death photos

May 4, 2011 1:24 PM, Updated 6:19 p.m. Eastern Time

In an interview with Steve Kroft for this Sunday's "60 Minutes" conducted today, President Obama said he won't release post-mortem images of Osama bin Laden taken to prove his death.

"It is important to make sure that very graphic photos of somebody who was shot in the head are not floating around as an incitement to additional violence or as a propaganda tool," said the president.

"We don't trot out this stuff as trophies," Mr. Obama added. "The fact of the matter is, this is somebody who was deserving of the justice that he received."

The president said he had discussed the issue with his intelligence team, including Defense Secretary Robert Gates and Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, and that they agree with the decision. White House press secretary Jay Carney said Wednesday that Mr. Obama made the decision today.

In explaining his choice not to release the photo, Mr. Obama said that "we don't need to spike the football." He said that "given the graphic nature of these photos it would create a national security risk."

We don't trot out this stuff as trophies

According to FP's tally, Osama bin Laden was mentioned 21 times during the nighttime speeches at the Democratic National Convention. I don't believe it. It had to be way more than that. In fact, there were times when he was being invoked so often -- by name or by suggestion - that I could have sworn he was the candidate.

We don't need to spike the football.

Republican House Intelligence Committee Chairman Mike Rogers said earlier in the day that the Obama administration should not release the gruesome post-mortem images, saying it could complicate the job for American troops overseas. Rogers told CBS News he has seen a post-mortem photo.

"The risks of release outweigh the benefits," Rogers said. "Conspiracy theorists around the world will just claim the photos are doctored anyway, and there is a real risk that releasing the photos will only serve to inflame public opinion in the Middle East."

"Imagine how the American people would react if Al Qaeda killed one of our troops or military leaders, and put photos of the body on the Internet," Rogers continued. "Osama bin Laden is not a trophy - he is dead and let's now focus on continuing the fight until Al Qaeda has been eliminated."

Imagine how the American people would react if Al Qaeda killed one of our troops or military leaders and put photos of the body on the Internet.

longer have any concept of the origins of their Founding Fathers even though the Founding Fathers put a dated horoscope on the Mall of Washington D.C. in a broken arm Thau. The cause of this loss is that the Age of Enlightenment has become truly an Age of Hubris, as Dr. Jung has concluded. The Age of Hubris believes that Humanists cause the Sky Consciousness that elevates Man to a New Age without the compassion of Aquarius as they sing the mantra, "Cogito ergo sum" like Leda and her Swan singing Kumbayah in Sea Island Creole English, which means "Come by hear, my Lord, Come by hear"; another Fisher King tradition. Proof of the Hubris of America was demonstrated at the 2012 Democratic National Convention in glorification of abortion, gay marriage, welfare for all, and many spikings of the Osama football, such as VP Joe Biden's Kumbayah.

Transcript

Vice President Joe Biden's DNC Speech

Barack Obama. This President has shown that same resolve, that same steady hand, in his role as Commander in Chief. Which brings me to the second crisis.

In 2008, Barack Obama made a promise to the American people. He said, "If we have Osama bin Laden in our sights, we will take him out. That has to be our biggest national security priority." Barack understood that the search for bin Laden was about a lot more than taking a monstrous leader off the battlefield. It was about righting an unspeakable wrong, healing a nearly unbearable wound in America's heart. He also knew the message we had to send to terrorists around the world—if you attack innocent Americans, we will follow you to the ends of the earth. Most of all, the President had faith in our special forces—the finest warriors the world has ever known.

We sat for days in the Situation Room. He listened to the risks and reservations about the raid. And he asked the tough questions. But when Admiral McRaven looked him in the eye and said—"Sir, we can get this done," I knew at that moment Barack had made his decision. His response was decisive. He said do it. And justice was done.

But Governor Romney didn't see things that way. When he was asked about bin Laden in 2007, he said, and I quote, "it's not worth moving heaven and earth, and spending billions of dollars, just trying to catch one person."

He [Governor Romney] was wrong. If you understood that America's heart had to be healed, you would have done exactly what the President did. And you too would have moved heaven and earth—to hunt down bin Laden, and bring him to justice.

Four years ago, when my mom was still with us, sitting in the stadium in Denver, I quoted one of her favorite expressions. She used to say, Joey, bravery resides in every heart, and the time will come, when it must be summoned.

Ladies and Gentlemen, I'm here to tell you, bravery resides in the heart of Barack Obama. And time and time again, I witnessed him summon it. This man has courage in his soul, compassion in his heart, and steel in his spine. And because of all the actions he took, because of the calls he made—and because of the grit and determination of American workers—and the unparalleled bravery of our special forces

--we can now proudly say--

Osama Bin Laden is dead, and General Motors is alive.

We don't trot out this stuff as trophies. We don't need to spike the football.

To understand these events we need to look deep into the human collective unconscious well over 10,000 years. By the Synchronicity of the Zeus Bolt on September 10, 2012 we are told by the movements of heaven and earth that we need to find our heads and put our heads back on and get our heads on straight. We need to bring to the Fisher King the Grail of Redemption. We have enough to answer the first question. "What does the grail serve?" The answer is life giving waters and the blood of the Fisher King. Emotion in the Muslim World is a calling card. Much is bluster, but when unrevealed, we have September 11, 2001. And if the emotion is denied, then we have September 11, 2012. There is no coincidence in the killing of Ambassador J. Christopher Stevens. "Ansar al Shariah" in LIBYA DECLARED WAR ON US: U.S. AMBASSADOR TO LIBYA, 3 OTHERS, KILLED IN ATTACK.

So, why does America always deny acts of war against her sovereignty? Why does any child repress what it does not want to hear, or see? Why does the MEDIA keep America in such depths of denial? Is it love of Obama, the Greek God of the "Golden Pectorals?" The depth analysis technique can reveal what has happened to America gradually since the Civil War. The Civil War hurt the collective psyche of America. Bruised psyches go into denial until the suffering is so great that they cannot do anything to save themselves. That is when a Young Knight like Percival has to rise up in a single minded goal of raising the Wounded and Dead Fisher King. The wound of the Fisher King is as eternal as the thorn in the hand of Gilgamesh (Andromeda). The death of the Fisher King is a cosmic moment. That is why the Fisher King falls into the Bottomless Pit of self denial. The Young Knights seek to understand the question, "What does the grail serve?" Percival needs to discover the pains of outrageous fortune. When he does, the answer comes to him. The grail serves all the lost compassion and self pity for prior losses (Lamentations). The young knight can then come to the Fisher King as Aquarius and say to the Fisher King, "I know how you feel." This is what is missing in America. For over a century we have denied the anguish of being American. The lands were so abundant that our denial did not cause us to fail, until now. On September 11, 2001 as we arrived in the present century, exactly 2000 years after the birth of Christ, we were dealt a death blow. (There was no 1 AD.) America thought they had saved the world, but it was all repression of "Unsatisfying Thoughts" because Zeus had not met Leda in the "Land of the Brave." America established a Progressive System of education and the political structure to support it that prevented any true satisfaction from coming to America. Thus, when a neophyte such as Barack Obama claims that he will provide "hope and change" the repressed collective soul of America shouts for joy as the Messianic God has come to take away all the repressed memories. Percival Obama was going to say the magic words that revealed the contents of the grail, from which he never drank during his drunkenness on progressive wine.

The universe does not work that way. Rather, deception raises its spirit and the Lords of Darkness appear as comfort to over taxed senses. The soul and the body become separate and there can be no communication as the very idea of God and Children of Tomorrow become vacated from the despairing collective consciousness. Then all cognition fades and the Lords of Darkness are given full power over the Fisher King in the Bottomless Pit. The myth says that some "experienced youth" will come on a great horse and provide the elixir to raise the Fisher King. And the myth is profound, not wrong nor fantasy. The Age of Aquarius is not a New Age thing. It has been told in uncountable myths for as long as there have been cultures who can lament the loss of collective cognition. Sumer had Shamash and all their gods. The Egyptians had Osiris and Isis and their son Horus was their Percival. The Hebrews and the Christians have their Fisher Kings, as well.

In Islam, there was a Prophet who spoke of Holy Islam. And for some 400-600 years the Prophet showed the way to Seventh Heaven directly up from the Fisher King. But, while Europe was struggling to reidentify the stars, and the Middle East was a trade zone of great abundance under Islam, there came warriors from Mongolia under Ögedei Khan. Subsequently, Europe was no longer a prize worthy of conquest. But, in Baghdad the Mongols saw abundant knowledge and wealth and pitiful arrogance. Rumors say that in 1258 the Mongol Hordes massacred nearly all inhabitants of Baghdad, estimates up to one million Muslims, in their conquest and total destruction of the Golden Age of Islam. "The sack of Baghdad put an end to the Abbasid Caliphate, a blow from which the Islamic civilization never fully recovered."

The accuracy of the number is not important, because when the Mongols stopped killing Muslims they used their sacred Quran as a great tool to place the people into bondage, for Islam ceased to be the vibrant scientific culture it had become and evidence of PTSD abounds throughout its lands to this day. In Europe the Muslims were installed by conquest in 711 AD and were in power until the surrender of Granada on January 2, 1492. As the Moors were driven out or forcibly converted to Christianity, they left a mark of the psyche of Europe that sparked a European Renaissance, an Age of Enlightenment, Protestant Reformation, and the Age of Discovery. The mark on Western Civilization of the descendants of the Mesopotamian Aryas all the way back to the founding of civilization is beyond measure. Because of their many trials they have been the Men of the World who had the task of fulfilling the Final Judgment of Western Civilization. This spirit is recorded in the Sign of Jonas in the New Testament as an echo of the expectation in the Book of Jonah.

The Quran had been founded to repress the astrology of the Persians and the Hebrews and the Byzantines. It came over six centuries after the Assyrian-Persian science of the Trepidation of the Equinoxes had been theologically debunked by Judeo-Christian cosmological science based upon Egyptian monumental records. The relatively famous circular zodiac in the Osiris Chapel in the Hathor Temple at Denderah leaves no room for doubt that the Ancient Egyptians at the founding of Egypt relied on a relatively constant rate of precession determined by the Sothic Calendars that had been in use for centuries, if not tens of millennia. After being defeated in Northern Egypt early in the 7th Century AD, remnants of Persia accepted the Byzantine representation of divine cosmology and completely denied the Chaldean science of astrology in the construction of Islam. Christian Theology derived from Judean Theology acquired from Egyptian Cosmology fixed the precession rate such that the Sign of Jonas would come 1970 years after the death of Christ based upon the vernal equinox crossing the east line of Pisces. The distance is approximately 27°16'35" and the precession rate is 26,000 years per cycle. This is within one year per cycle of the rate determined from the Circular Zodiac at Denderah. The precession rate is critical for the determination of historical events in any civilization. After the creation of the Julian Calendar, it was believed that history would no longer be defined by the Journey of the Sun. However, as Matthew 2 reveals, the position of the Star of Bethlehem that journeyed from the east at the Vernal Equinox had been miscalculated because the Romans had no zero, and Herod was too complicit in the treachery of Rome to correct Emperor Augustus. The Arabian cultures changed their trepidation theory during the Persian defeat by Byzantium and Islam marked the same occasion with the vernal equinox at the west line of Pisces in 610. In Islam, the redemption of the Men from Nineveh occurs at the same time as the Sign of Jonas, for reasons that should be obvious; they had the backing of the Old and New Testaments that had come out of Egypt regarding the redemption of the Men from Nineveh (Ur, Babylon), i.e., Mesopotamia.

It had written laws that could go straight to the collective unconscious and bind the creative minds of the believers. The book is not flawed, but what the conquerors did to the Muslim people after one of the most significant genocides the Earth has experienced was deadly to the spirit of the people that named the vast majority of the visible stars brighter than magnitude 3. The Arabic names for these stars tell us that there was a time when the children of Islam lived in peace under the stars of heaven and served Allah. It has been over 740 years since the stars have witnessed the peace that was expressed by the original followers of Muhammad. However, they never forgot what the Mongol Hordes did to Seventh Heaven in Baghdad. So, teaching young boys to memorize the Holy Book of Islam was an excellent means to raise Warriors of Allah. Repressing the star loving women made sure that the Warriors of Allah would remain strong. Because of this, most of the action taken by Jihadists is pure reaction to systemic programming, strengthened by the repressed memory of the Crusades and eventually the Mongol invasions; the wound of the Muslim Fisher King. The repression is reinforced by the establishment Mongols in the ruling classes of Islam where they advocate the Hercules archetype to control the youths. One fact in these conjecture is above reproach, Islam never returned to the celestial paradise that brought about its conception.

As for Percival, the long tradition from ancient Persia named after Perseus was that of single minded rational order. Perseus was reported to have "bagged the head of the Medusa." She was a beast of a female human with snakes for hair; intuition. This bagging the Medusa meant focus on the prize. That prize was the same Kingdom from which the Fisher King fell. In the Legend of Gilgamesh we are told of his journey across the Deadly Sea where he would find at the bottom of the sea a Thorn Branch called Reborn Man. In this Legend the Young Hero is the great King of Ur, Gilgamesh. But, when Gilgamesh found the Thorn Branch called Reborn Man he swam ashore exhausted and fell asleep on the beach. Whereupon two serpents came and stole the Thorn Branch of Reborn Man and Gilgamesh was so depleted from the dive to the Depths of the Deadly Sea that he could not recover. This story still shrouds the history of the Mesopotamian Patriarchies. They all tell stories of that Great Day when a Youthful Knight will arrive with the Thorn Branch, or some equivalent elixir, that will restore life to the Fisher King. Yet, they reject the salvation of Christ, who delivered the Manna from Heaven and the Cup of His salvation to the regenerated Hebrews that restored New Jerusalem in accordance with Ezekiel 9:4-6.

Two thousand twelve years ago there was born a new Youthful Knight that would not have the frailties of a Son of Man, although he would come as a Son of Man so as to reveal the answer to the second question for the Fisher King, "Whom does the grail serve?" We can recognize this Young Knight because he had the Thorn Branch wrapped around his head when he gave the answer while nailed to the Thau on Golgotha. He said, "Forgive them Father, for they know not what they do." It is important to see that maturity, as defined by Dr. Lin below, is not a guaranteed event. Many generations can pass when no Young Knight can determine "What does the grail serve?" And even if the Young Knight could answer that question, it is almost as difficult to find the Fisher King, for the Young Knight once heard the Name of the Lord as "I Am That I Am." The Young Knights look and look, but cannot find the Fisher King. Then one bold Young Knight says to himself, "I Am Whom Am." A bolt from Zeus blasts the Young Knight and he is prone to say, "It cannot be me!" Yet, the Young Knight has all the characteristics of the Fisher King, except one, for of the Young Knight it can be said, "He knows not what he does." The answer is so simple, that it is hidden in a mirror before every Young Knight. The mirror says to the Young Knight, "Know thyself!" This is the whole story behind the dissertation of Dr. Lin. Only in his rendition the expression is, "CEO, know thyself." What is a CEO if not a Young Knight operating in a civil order so ancient that its origins have faded into oblivion.

Now, fast forward from the plight of Gilgamesh and witness those Jihadists who cry out, "Obama, Obama, we are all Osama!" Do they really know what they are saying, or are they wooden boys with strings to their Imams like Pinocchio to Geppetto, who also experienced the legend of the Fisher King and Jonah? And what of Obama, whose eyes are bound to teleprompters where words are a puppeteer's strings?

Listen to President Barack Obama, a Percival Youth if ever there was one. When Obama says, "If we have Osama bin Laden in our sights, we will take him out. That has to be our biggest national security priority." does he know what he is saying? He is after all, a Hussein by blood. Then he says, "We don't trot out this stuff as trophies, we don't need to spike the football." Isn't he really telling the world what he means to do? Or, does he use those specific words in denial so that the Subjects of Obamadam will imagine what their Young Knight will do on "Some Day I'll"? Has the Young Knight Obama ever said a word in public that was not meant to ensure his status as Fisher King to be. Again, Obama fails to see beyond the shape of the Crown to witness a very thorny proposition.

How and why do Young Knights always trip over themselves on the way to the Bottomless Pit? The following discussion of the elements of depth analysis are intended to be hooks that will be helpful in bringing up the Monsters within Depth Psychology. As you dive into the waters of Gilgamesh, just remember that the Thorn Branch ensures Reborn Man, and that it is the Key of Heaven in Revelation 9:1 and Revelation 20:1 where it is identified as the Key of the Bottomless Pit. Without this key, there will not be another day of enlightenment in America or Jerusalem. The Bad Guys are not they who claim "I Am That I Am" and neither are the Good Guys, for in the Universe there is One Verse. It is the sound heard when the contents of the grail pour out to "Whom the grail serves." These contents of the grail deliver the Aquarian nectar to every dead Fisher King who can say, "I Am Who Am." Nothing could be more real on a True Earth that is in a True Heaven.

Apophenia (Patricio Bustamante D., <http://www.answers.com/>)
 The spontaneous perception of connections and meaningfulness in unrelated things; seeing patterns where none, in fact, exist

CEO

(Chief Executive Officer) or the critical decision maker of organizations. Although the title may be chairman of the board, head of the executive committee, senior partner, or president, he or she is the organization's recognized formal leader.

Emotion

An involuntary reaction due to an active complex. (See also affect.) On the one hand, emotion is the alchemical fire whose warmth brings everything into existence and whose heat burns all superfluities to ashes. But on the other hand, emotion is the moment when steel meets flint and a spark is struck forth, for emotion is the chief source of consciousness. There is no change from darkness to light or from inertia to movement without emotion (Sharp, 1991, p. 50; Jung, 1934/1954 [CW 9i, par. 179]).

Enantiodromia

Literally, "running counter to," referring to the emergence of the unconscious opposite in the course of time. This characteristic phenomenon practically always occurs when an extreme, one-sided tendency dominates conscious life; in time an equally powerful counter position is built up, which first inhibits the conscious performance and subsequently breaks through the conscious control. Enantiodromia is typically experienced in conjunction with symptoms associated with acute neurosis, and often foreshadows a rebirth of the personality (Sharp, 1991, p. 51; Jung, 1921/1971 [CW 6, par. 709]).

Hierophany (Patricio Bustamante D., <http://www.answers.com/>)

In the hierophanies recorded in myth, the sacred appears in the form of ideal models (the actions and commandments of gods, heroes, etc.). By manifesting itself as ideal models, the sacred gives the world value, direction, and purpose: "The manifestation of the sacred ontologically founds the world". According to this view, all things need to imitate or conform to the sacred models established by hierophanies in order to have true reality: to traditional man, things "acquire their reality, their identity, only to the extent of their participation in a transcendent reality".

Introjection

A process of assimilation of object to subject, the opposite of projection. Introjection is a process of extraversion, since assimilation to the object requires empathy and an investment of the object with libido. A passive and an active introjection may be distinguished: transference phenomena in the treatment of the neuroses belong to the former category, and, in general, all cases where the object exercises a compelling influence on the subject, while empathy as a process of adaptation belongs to the latter category (Sharp, 1991, p. 75; Jung, 1921/1971 [CW 6, par. 768]).

Libido

Psychic energy in general. Jung specifically distanced his concept of libido from that of Freud, for whom it had a predominantly sexual meaning. Libido can never be apprehended except in a definite form; that is to say, it is identical with fantasy-images. And we can only release it from the grip of the unconscious by bringing up the corresponding fantasy-images.

All psychological phenomena can be considered as manifestations of energy, in the same way that all physical phenomena have been understood as energetic manifestations ever since Robert Mayer discovered the law of the conservation of energy. Subjectively and psychologically, this energy is conceived as desire. I call it libido, using the work in its original sense, which is by no means only sexual. [Libido] denotes a desire or impulse which is unchecked by any kind of authority, moral or otherwise. Libido is appetite in its natural state. From the genetic point of view it is bodily needs like hunger, thirst, sleep, and sex, and emotional states or affects, which constitute the essence of libido (Sharp, 1991, p. 80; Jung, 1929/1961 [CW 4, par. 194]).

Logos

The principle of logic and structure, traditionally associated with spirit, the father world and the God-image. (See also animus and Eros.) There is no consciousness without discrimination of opposites. This is the paternal principle, the Logos, which eternally struggles to extricate itself from the primal warmth and primal darkness of the maternal womb; in a word, from unconsciousness. In Jung's earlier writings, he intuitively equated masculine consciousness with the concept of Logos and feminine consciousness with that of Eros. Either one could be dominant in a particular man or woman, due to the contrasexual complexes (Sharp, 1991, p. 81; Jung, 1934/1954 [CW 9i, par. 178]).

Mana-personality

A personified archetypal image of a supernatural force. The mana-personality is a dominant of the collective unconscious, the well-known archetype of the mighty man in the form of hero, chief, magician, medicine-man, saint, the ruler of men and spirits, the friend of God. Historically, the manapersonality evolves into the hero and the god-like being, whose earthly form is the priest. How very much the doctor is still mana is the whole plaint of the analyst! Mana is a Melanesian word referring to a bewitching or numinous quality in gods and sacred objects. A mana-personality embodies this magical power. In individual psychology, Jung used it to describe the inflationary effect of assimilating autonomous unconscious contents, particularly those associated with anima and animus (Sharp, 1991, p. 83; Jung, 1912/1953 [CW7, par. 377,389]).

Pareidolia (Patricio Bustamante D., <http://www.answers.com/>)

A type of illusion or misperception involving a vague stimulus which is perceived as clearly being something.

Rorschach test (Patricio Bustamante D., <http://www.answers.com/>)

A psychological test in which a subject's interpretations of a series of standard inkblots are analyzed as an indication of personality traits, preoccupations, and conflicts.

Synchronicity

A phenomenon where an event in the outside world coincides meaningfully with a psychological state of mind. Synchronicity... consists of two factors: a) An unconscious image comes into consciousness either directly (i.e., literally) or indirectly (symbolized or suggested) in the form of a dream, idea, or premonition. b) An objective situation coincides with this content. The one is as puzzling as the other (Sharp, 1991, p.132; Jung, 1928/1960 [CW8, par. 858]).

Transcendent function

A psychic function that arises from the tension between consciousness and the unconscious and supports their union. When there is full parity of the opposites, attested by the ego's absolute participation in both, this necessarily leads to a suspension of the will, for the will can no longer operate when every motive has an equally strong counter motive. Since life cannot tolerate a stand-still, a damming up of vital energy results, and this would lead to an insupportable condition did not the tension of opposites produce a new, uniting function that transcends them. This function arises quite naturally from the regression of libido caused by the blockage.

The tendencies of the conscious and the unconscious are the two factors that together make up the transcendent function. It is called "transcendent" because it makes the transition from one attitude to another organically possible (Sharp, 1991, p. 135; Jung, 1971 [CW6, par. 824]; June, 1960 [CW8, par. 145]).

Final Thoughts by Dr. Lin

Since the deity is no longer acting as a vessel to protect America and its CEOs, both are in crisis. The Chinese understood this situation to simultaneously mean danger and opportunity. If the knowledge of depth psychology, especially related to the concept of the Zeus archetype, shadow, and anima can be brought to the consciousness of America's men and women of power, then we can move to the mystical New Jerusalem where we take on the wisdom of our founding fathers-Benjamin Franklin, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and Abraham Lincoln. This new enantiodromia does not have to be a catastrophe (the destruction of America as we now know it). It can be evolutionary, rather than the chaos of a revolution.

In The Mysterium Lecture, Edinger (1995) tries to illuminate Jung's (1935/1963) difficult passages from the Mysterium Coniunctionis. Edinger ends with an interesting story from the Old Testament. When the deity is about to destroy Sodom and Gamorrah for its sins, Abraham, who speaks with God, asks for clemency. Abraham asks:

"What if we've got some righteous people in these cities, what if there are forty?" And Yahweh says, "Well, then I'll save the city if there are forty." And Abraham works him all the way down to ten-"What if there are ten?" And Yahweh says, "I'll save the city if there are ten." Abraham doesn't want to push his luck too far, so he stops there. (p. 326)

Edinger then suggests:

But it's not beyond the realm of possibility that just one person might be enough to preserve the world. (p. 326)

Eye Of Siloam Summary:

The modern dictionary of Jungian terms is extremely critical to understanding the archetypal actions in reality. Although the Jungians are still lost in the Depth of Analysis where the Fisher King does not know what questions to ask, the Zeus Bolt presented above demonstrates beyond any reasonable doubt toward Pareidolia that Synchronicity is a phenomenon external to the human consciousness. When Synchronicity does occur it can enter a consciousness lacking cognition related to the message in the Synchronicity and degrade to Pareidolia. When an individual witnesses an attempt to communicate through Synchronicity as a coincidence of meaning, that individual has Individuated. "I did it my way!" Though the Jungians would claim maturity is the process of Individuation in the midst of coincidences, they arbitrarily and capriciously repress the source of the Synchronicity. Never has any event in the Prima Materia of the cosmic dark matter occurred without Reason and Purpose. This is the Holistic and True Zeus Archetype. The preservation of the Earth, or even the girdle of the Sun called Holy Jerusalem upon which the Earth travels, is the responsibility of all executive functionaries, whether CEOs, fathers, mothers, teachers, or Jungians. Any human in a leadership position must reestablish the Purpose of every Cosmic Synchronicity by Re-Cognition of it.

Interpretations of Cosmic Synchronicity have occurred on an irregular basis throughout the Epochs of Man and Earth. One common characteristic is that there is a great decrease in consciousness due to false cognition of the Synchronicities of the past. The Living Soul chooses its own meaning in the struggle for Individuation and represses past meanings on the false assumption that they were not meant for future consumption in the present. Until the true meaning of Divine Intent can no longer be denied the Fisher King is dead. If lack of meaning were true in any way, then no generation of Man could leave a Legacy of Satisfying Thoughts. The loss of this legacy means that the ancestors are irrelevant and their cognition projected from the past means that the introjections to the descendants in the future are irrelevant. For 44 years the Eye of Siloam has been accumulating evidence of Cosmic Synchronicity and many hundreds have been reported on the related web sites since 1997, as they happened. The Internet provided an incredible means to receive input and report the Depth Analysis of Cosmic Synchronicities with variable heuristic value.

This same Internet is used by Al Qaida to instill riots in the Sons of Gilgamesh and Shamash all around the globe. They burn the flags of King Obama as a ruse to imply that America is against their belief that Muhammad was the only Prophet of Compassion. The problem is not that they are right or wrong. The problem is that both sides are lost in the depth of their own convictions without perception of the directions the bubbles of their oratory flow from the depth in their Individuated Sea of Rapture of personal emotion.

A simple way to understand Cosmic Synchronicity is consider a phone call between two friends. The phone rings and the receiving friend answers,

Receiver: "Hello, Friend."

The caller then is astonished and says,

Caller: "Friend! I just had a Synchronicity. I had my phone to my ear and it was ringing and then you answered!"

The receiving friend replies,

Receiver: "Duh! You dork, that was no Synchronicity, you called me!"

When I thought about Zeus, Zeus answered my call. In order to communicate we have to take Synchronicity for granted or it becomes the message. Eventually we fail to communicate because we only receive the messages we want to receive and all potential Synchronicities are lost. Then we go to a Jungian Analyst who tells us that there are a lot of messages in the head of the Medusa where repressed alternative consciousness was perceived as evil intent. As the Jungian dredges the swamp of the repressed consciousness there is so much evil stuff recovered that the Analysand is sure that insanity, which is Ineffable Enantiodromia (Greek: enantios, opposite + dromos, running course) has taken control of all self consciousness. Then the Jungian becomes a Shaman and the Analysand becomes a puppet of the archetypes. Realizing this state has been achieved the Jungian tells the Analysand, "You must suffer the Journey of Individuation." Hidden in the Jungian Shaman's words are the words of the mother of the Analysand, "Grow up, fool, don't be an ass."

Here is the mystery of every Fisher King including, Gilgamesh, Osiris, Jonah, Jacob, Job, Jesus, Jung, and Obama.

What does the grail serve?

Every single Fisher King witnesses the same contents of the grail, the life giving waters of self sentiment. Self sentiment is that capacity to allow into consciousness all past experience, whether personal sense, culture ritual tradition, genetic encoding, celestial coalescence, or Divine Intent of the Heavenly Father as a narcissistic self. Self sentiment is drawn in the "picture book" of the heavens, Plato's embroidery, as the water pouring from the Grail of Aquarius. He is the Good Samaritan that gives compassion from the north side of the Road of Jerusalem to the Fisher King at the Temple Foundation in the ditch to the south. Self esteem is the elixir of salvation.

Whom does the grail serve?

Upon whom does Aquarius pour the contents of his grail? Each legend of the Fisher King reveals a different name, but by the direction the water's flow and the shape of the form in the heavens, the grail serves the man in the Depth of Self Analysis attempting to overcome Rapture of the Deep in a struggle to Know Thyself. He has no inkling of who is to be served, or which way bubbles go. Cosmic up and down were established by humans over 50,000 years ago. Would Aquarius or Leo run on their backs? Thus, Up and Down in the Cosmos represent Cosmic Intent from the Heavenly Father. By these works, mortals can identify Intent, even though the Intender is ineffable.

The cosmic depth was reached by repression of every Rapture of Synchronicity that passed overhead during a youthful ride on a covered ass after rebirth from the womb of the Harlot of Babylon. She is the Great Satisfier that provides rational answers for Ineffable Enantiodromia. If the Fisher King can see the ways of her rationalizing lust, he need only go opposite to them, and from there the True Fisher King will rise. The grail serves the one who sighs and mourns for all the abominations of her cup as a prodigal son.

This image of Zeus and Antinous-Aquila shows that the Way Up is from the bed of the Harlot of Virgo to the Cupbearer of infant Ganymede, for her cup flows in a direction identified as down. The "up out of Egypt" path is the flight from Sirius-Isis to Altair-Aquila where the prodigal son is at the "right hand" of the father. (See Flight of Isis in last previous star chart, above, or here.)

This medallion shows the Ark of the Covenant is crossed between Taurus and Aries. This is the route of Perseus and Percival and Quetzalcoatl from the Pleiades to Antinous.

The right leg of Ganymede "cuts the Bull of Heaven" (Taurus) and the left foot points to the "Sacrificial Lamb" (Aries). The ancient message was that the "I Have" has been crossed and the "I Am" has been entered. Cogito ergo sum, I think (Gemini), I Have (Taurus), I Am (Aries), I think, therefore, I am. Zeus consummates an emotion in Leda.

The left side shows Ganymede as a youthful Cupbearer pouring out the contents on the "Bucephalus" of Alexander, the Messiah of the Greeks. Bucephalus means "Ox Head" and the cup in the right hand and the right leg represent youthful righteousness on the medallion to overcome bullheadedness. The right side of the medallion shows the destination to the Eagle above the "I Am." This is the journey across the desert Field of Aries that begins at Perseus and ends at "Aquila and I Am Who Am."

There is a problem in the right eye of Zeus. It is the rock on the head of Ganymede, meaning that young boys get hard headed because they pour out all their emotions in the attempt to cross the ox headed materiality toward the Individuated Identity. Should the man-child look forward in time, identified by the ark from Taurus to Aries, he would see the Eagle under the other arm of Father Zeus as the future I Am of the Man-child. The Ineffable Enantiodromia is what is under the Eagle in the third motion of the Earth, precession of the equinoxes. On the medallion it is the Sacrificial Lamb, Aries the "I Am." Yet, in the real heavens the Eagle carries Antinous-Ganymede above the Archer, Sagittarius the "I See." Throughout history paternal cults are strengthened by a "Code of Silence" as a means to preserve the sagacity at the Gateway of Gods from fools of self rationalizations lost in the boudoir of the Harlot of Babylon. If the man-child is to rise from self repression, the man-child must determine for himself "What does the grail serve? and Whom does the grail serve?" No father or mentor can teach self affection. It must be self administered. Freud made the same conclusion regarding self analysis.

Ezekiel 9:4 Douay-Rheims 1899 American Edition (DRA)

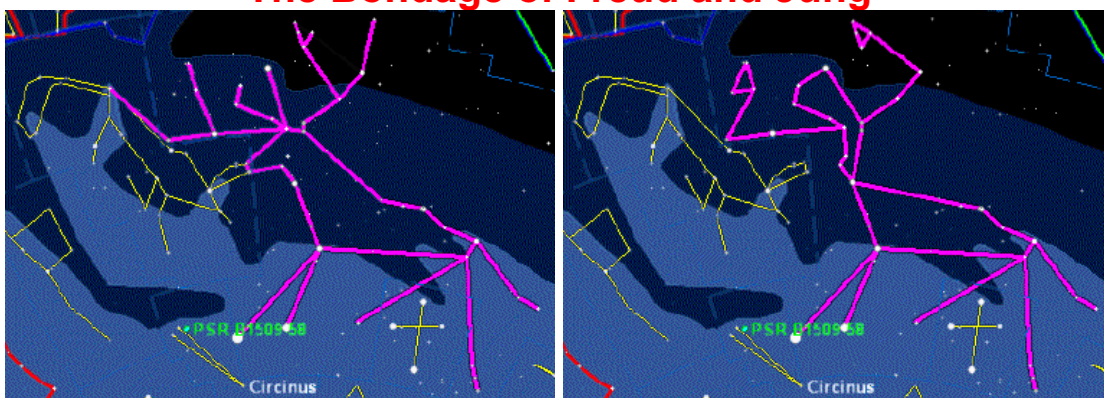

And the Lord said to him: Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem: and mark Thau upon the foreheads of the men that sigh, and mourn for all the abominations that are committed in the midst thereof.

Ezekiel 9:6 Douay-Rheims 1899 American Edition (DRA)

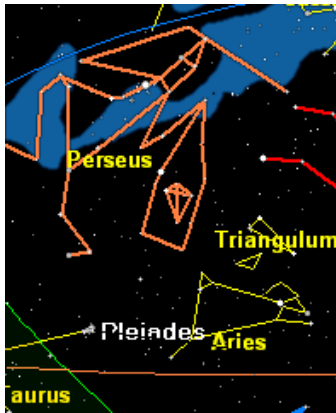

Utterly destroy old and young, maidens, children and women: but upon whomsoever you shall see Thau, kill him not, and begin ye at my sanctuary. So they began at the ancient men who mere before the house.

The Bondage of Freud and Jung

The Greeks told a myth about Actaeon and Diana. Actaeon was the Great Hunter who perchance came upon Diana and her assistants taking a bath in the Heavenly Meadow. Diana, being a Virgin and Great Hunter herself, flipped her bath water upon Actaeon in a flirtation. As soon as she had done this act, Actaeon was transfigured into a Stag, while on the hunt. The canines of Actaeon were trained to kill deer, and they attacked the hapless hunter and stag. Subsequently, there was war in the heavens and the Great Stag Father became a Centaur. The centaur of concern is the one named Chiron. It was Chiron who told many the youths of Greek deities how to get to the Gateway of the Gods in the afterlife. When they failed to remain cognizant of his training, they became dead souls. Whereupon Chiron offered them a route on his raft across the River Styx that feeds the Well of Hades. This story is critical to the Zeus Bolt shown above, for Chiron, as an asteroid, was sitting as the "voice" of Aquarius, the Messiah of the Dead Souls. The voice of Aquarius is the point of disembarking after crossing the River Styx when each Fisher King tastes the nectar of the grail and receives self esteem for personal experiences.

What transpired over thousands of years since the Chaldeans identified the route of the Wandering Stars was nothing less than a Battle for the Cosmos. That is why the ancient Code of Silence was critical. The War in the Heavens was for steerage of the Wandering Woman clothed in the Sun with the Moon under foot. She was the Hebrew mother of all. She was, and is, Mother Earth. Only those wanderers born of Mother Earth can succeed in the War of the Worlds. So, they looked for shortcuts and hidden ways to cross the battlefield in the Underworld and the Deadly Sea. John 10:1 (DRA); Amen, amen I say to you: He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up another way, the same is a thief and a robber. At the time these words were spoken, Rome was under the spell of the Persian Enlightenment of Mithras as Perseus.

Denderah Zodiac Route of the Rationalizers at Herod's Throne

This brings us to Jung's contention regarding the Collective Unconscious. Jung claimed that it was filled with more archetypes than could ever be uncovered by heuristic analysis, i.e., speculative formulation serving as a guide in the investigation. The elitist words "heuristic analysis" mean intuitive rationalization of intuition, to common folk, and repression of emotions to Jungians. The further a Jungian digs the less the analysis seems to reveal. Less, not in numbers, but less than what is left to be raised into the light of recognition as diminishing returns. To my knowledge, Jung never stated that the archetypes of his Depth of Analysis were precisely what was encoded in all the ancient religious traditions, though the inference is abundant. Jung required solid definitive evidence that science could not refute. The Ancients knew that the Minotaur's Labyrinth was the Collective Unconscious, and the Bucephalus must not see his own shadow if he is to be tamed. This is the cause of the Code of Silence. This was a point that Freud and Jung could not comprehend because they declared that they were the initiators of depth analysis. Yet, at no time did these masters of depth analysis ever choose to psychoanalyze the Cosmic Intent, the Heavenly Father. If depth analysis is what they claimed, then it would necessarily work on interpretation of the Mind of God. Freud simply denied God, and Jung gave his image of God the powers of a Tyrant.

Patricio Bustamante D.,

Probably, human beings tried to decipher the “language of nature” from the beginning. Thanks to pareidolia, it seems like they read the cosmos, the sky and the land as if they were a gigantic Rorschach test that allowed them to see figures in the sky and the land. By means of apophenia and hierophany, those figures were interpreted according to their context and to what they seemed to suggest, always coming up with a coherent explanation in relation to the happenings and observed events.

Dr. Jung in The Mass And The Individuation Process:

"My idea is that the symbol of the cross does not originate from any external form, but from an endopsychic vision of the primitive man. It does not seem to have occurred to people that when we say “psyche” we are alluding to the densest darkness it is possible to imagine. The ethics of the researcher require him to admit where his knowledge comes to an end. This end is the beginning of true wisdom."

THAU and Cross and the Shadow of Thales on the Mall of Washington, D.C.

If man's collective unconscious is endopsychic vision, as suggested by Dr. Jung, then psychoanalysts will be well employed for eternity and they will never come close to the Mind of God. The Ancients prior to the Age of Enlightenment had a substantially different perspective. In fact, Dr. Jung said, "Things have gone rapidly downhill since the Age of Enlightenment, for, once this petty reasoning mind, which cannot endure any paradoxes, is awakened, no sermon on earth can keep it down." (Stein, Murray; Jung, C. G. (1999-09-22). Jung on Christianity)

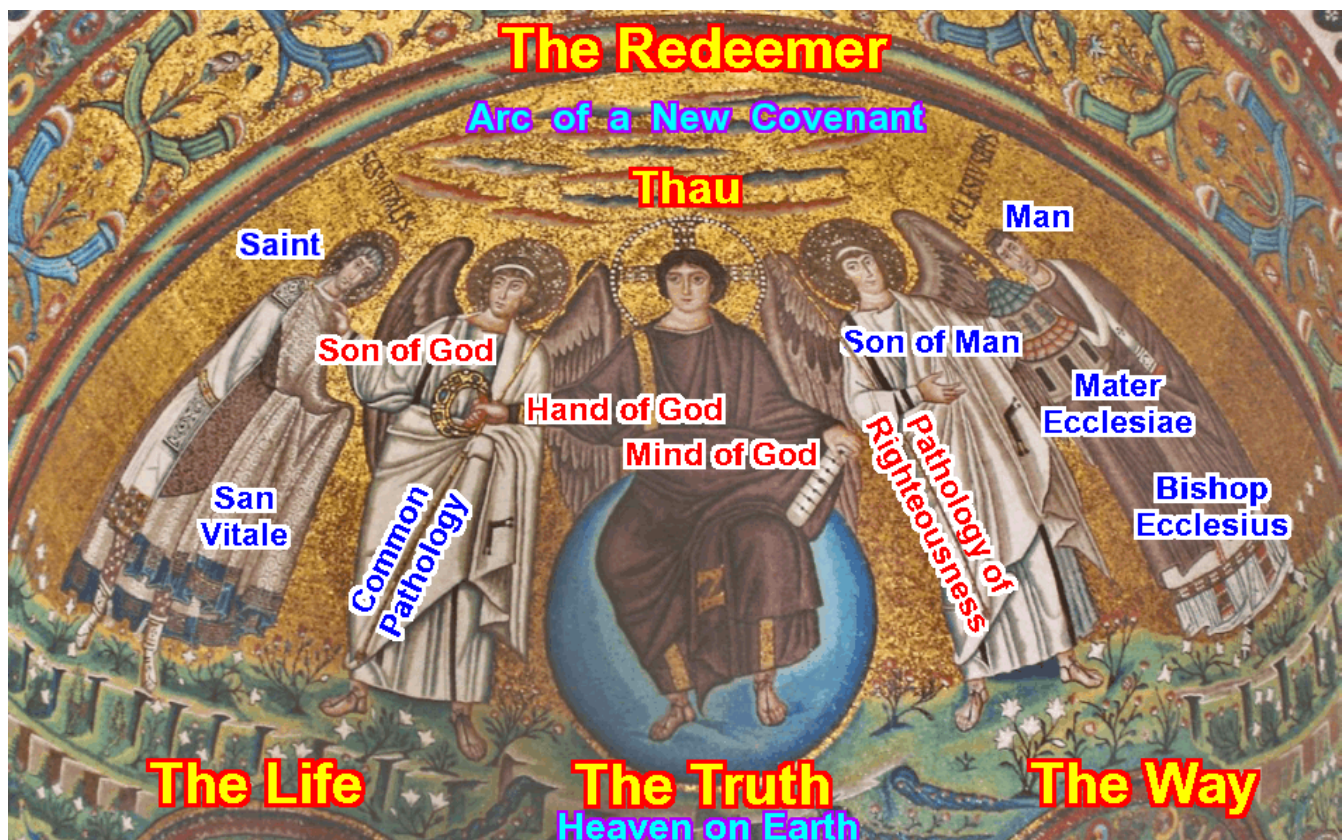

If the archetypes are endopsychic then the constellations that illustrate the mythologies of human cultures were "arbitrary configurations" as suggested by Dr. Jung. If so, then how do we explain the creation doctrine of every religion with cosmic routes regarding the Fisher King?

The “wonderful harmonies” of natural law looked to me more like a chaos tamed by fearful effort, and the “eternal” starry firmament with its predetermined orbits seemed plainly an accumulation of random bodies without order or meaning. For no one could really see the constellations people spoke about. They were mere arbitrary configurations. (Stein, Murray; Jung, C. G. (1999-09-22). Jung on Christianity)

In the photograph by Patricio Bustamante showing the skull in the Milky Way with a cross on the forehead we see the words of Ezekiel 9:4, “mark Thau upon the foreheads of the men that sigh, and mourn.” Thau, representing last and silence of voice, is a Cosmic Grave Marker. Could this possibly be endopsychic? The dot-to-dot connections show the “arbitrary configuration” that Jung denied so as to conclude that all such concepts are projections of endopsychic vision or pareidolia. We could acknowledge the “science” of the projections by man if the stars were put into their positions my man. Yet, “science” requires a test of hypothesis, not simply an agreement among peers, Ph.D.s, M.D.s, or otherwise gilded with the fleece of the I Am as a sheepskin on a wall. This is where Jungian Psychoanalysis crosses the heuristic line between scientific reason and shamanism. Ancient shamans could show the source of their specific psychic content, and psychoanalysts had to conjure in darkness because these wizards of the endopsychic gods could not connect the dots. But, though mortally wounded, the Fisher Kings of Freud and Jung are not dead, just in cognitive catatonia due to a breakdown of communication.

Even more dramatic shown above are four archetypal routes, though not all the possible routes, to the region above the cloud of the Milky Way taken by Persians, Hebrews, Egyptians, and Muslims. The Persian Route was directly from Perseus to Cepheus by single minded conquest, implied by the bagging of the multi-headed Medusa. This was the route told to Jonah when he set out to Nineveh. Yet, Jonah ran away from the route of tyrants of Persia and went fishing in Aries (I Am), where he was thrown overboard into the belly of the beast (see Deadly Sea Chart above, or here). It was Jonah's Last Chance Route and upon repenting, Jonah reached Nineveh and the Ninevehites were saved in less than one day because they shot straight up to the head of the king, Cepheus, i.e., Khufu and Chronos, from the mouth of the Sea Monster. Angered at the ease of salvation given to the men from Nineveh, Jonah stayed under the bush (gourd, ivy) for some time before finally relenting and continuing along the Route of Israelites taken by Moses across the “bottom of the Reed Sea” of the Wanderers.” The Reeds are still visible in the constellation of Pisces, also known as the Lilies of the Valley and the Ivy/Gourd of Jonah. 4 \(DRA\) / Jonah 4 \(KJV\). The Messiah of the Wanderers is Aquarius, because Aquarius comes back with the Wisdom of the I See through the Scapegoat to do what Jonah was commanded to do.

The Egyptians and the Greeks had an older route across the sea that took them from Sirius (Isis) to Altair (Aquila) where the Prodigal Man-Child returns to the Father of Heaven. The Hellenistic Age raised the consciousness of this route to salvation to a near catholic perspective, for it was the major theological accomplishment of the Hellenes in creating a godhead in the image of Alexander the Great, one man who rode a horse called Ox Head to free the whole Greek World from the tyranny of Perseus and his followers. The Greek World was still in Jungian Doubt regarding the infinite abyss at the end of the Hellenistic Age. The Greek World returned to the tyranny of Perseus after the assassination of Julius Caesar and his queen, Cleopatra, and their son, Ceasarean. Three and one half centuries later Constantine the Great witnessed the Thau in the sky on the vernal equinox as the Key of Heaven and the catholic version of the Egyptian-Greek-Mithras Constellations became the Church of the Empire, the Roman Catholic Church. That church spun off the Greek Orthodox Church allowing the Emperor to be the Vicar of Christ on Earth in the First Great Schism of the Roman Catholic Church.

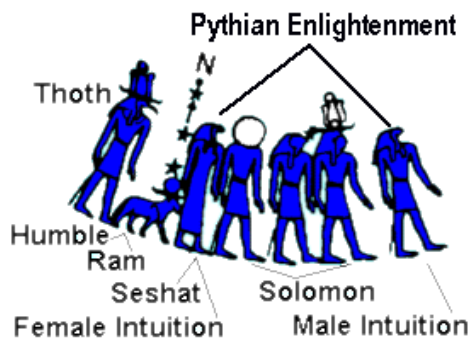

The evidence of this way of redemption of Jonah's command is in the apse of the San Vitale Basilica. The artistry of the apse will be discussed below. It depicts Christ the Redeemer with the mark of the Thau sitting upon New Heaven without stars lifting off from a "ditch" on an Earthly Garden. The celestial guide book is on his left knee under his left hand, and it is the Book of Seven Seals with which the architecture of the Church of the Redeemer is identified. The Cosmic Sphere is empty. As such, the Freedom to Create a New Heaven on Earth is given to all who use the Book of the Left Hand. At the right hand of Christ the Redeemer is the Martyr's Crown being awarded to San Vitale, a saint for which there are no records. Yet, in the name of the saint is all that needs to be known. San Vitale means Sainted Life. It is acquired by death of the self divined identity. The Book of Seven Seals contains the Star Chart of the Original Heavens. The stars were not erased, they were protected by the Book of Seven Seals, the Book of Revelation. This was the gift of the Democracy concept of the Greeks. Democracy will only work if each individual is free to reconstruct the Divine Cosmos. This process must be transmitted to all the world if Jonah's Command is to be fulfilled.

The Basilica San Vitale was dedicated to the One Man that saved the Greek World, Alexander the Great, whose real life works became the seed for the catholic version of the Book of Life. The axis of the Basilica points directly to Alexandria. It was at Alexandria that the Redeemer of the Levant was enthroned as the Son of Amun and he ordered the building of the city and a Great Library to prepare for the restoration to all mankind of the Wisdom of the Ages. Alexander was raised by his Mother, Olympias ca. 375–316 BC. According to historians, "She was a devout member of the orgiastic snake-worshipping cult of Dionysus, and it is suggested by the 1st century AD biographer, Plutarch, that she may have slept with snakes." It is important to read between the lines of Plutarch and other historians with a powerful motive towards propaganda and to realize that the "serpent" represented wisdom in the culture of the Alexandrians. At the Temple to Hathor is the whole book of Revelation and much of the Gospels and a Picture Book of the Journey of the Hebrews. Alexandria was the birthplace of Christianity out of the Septuagint and the Book of the Dead and untold thousands of books prepared at the Library of Alexander for human consumption of Cosmic Revelation, for it was in Alexandria that the funding for the Septuagint Bible came. The funds for that work and the Great Library of Alexandria came from Alexander's conquest of Persia.

The Truth about Olympias is that she was a Master of the Serpent of Moses, and through her efforts, as first Queen Mother of the Ptolemaic Regime, the Hellenistic Age was born. At the end of the Age, Cleopatra VII had the qualities of Olympias, and history records that she also slept with serpents. No culture on earth had greater motive to eliminate the New Babylon State of Rome than Ptolemaic Egypt, a Greco-Egyptian Paradise that had been terrorized by the Aryas of Mesopotamia. By virtue of its architecture we can clearly witness that the Basilica San Vitale was dedicated to Alexander through the Ptolemaic accomplishments as recorded by them in the Temple to Hathor, the Egyptian Hebrew Mother, also known as Mother Earth, their last great temple.

Through the wisdom of this serpentry, identified with Pythians of Delphi, we can read the message in the orientation of the Basilica to Sacred Life that was the heart and soul of Alexandria. If the body of Alexander the Great is in repose on this Earth, there is no more appropriate location than under the apse of the Basilica San Vitale. Ultimately, the modern Persians identified as Followers of Muhammad owe their very existence to the Judgment Day records of the Temple to Hathor and the lost works of the Alexandrians. The Muslims did precisely what the apse of the Basilica San Vitale commands. The Sons of Islam restored the heavens of all the ancient cultures and they left their mark on the names of the stars and the monuments they constructed prior to the Sacking of Baghdad by the Mongols. Mecca, Medina, and Jerusalem carry the cosmic coordinates of the Ascension of Muhammad. The Sons of Islam did not start out as tyrannically obsessed warriors, for if they had they never would have connected the celestial dots to find the route from Jonah to Nineveh. The rejection of Eve, which was the fundamental tenet of the Mesopotamian Cultures did not arrive in Islam until after their submission by the Mongolian Hordes. Rational domination of the human psyche is a consequence of trauma and the subsequent repression of its memory.

The establishment of the Roman Rite accomplished something that had never been accomplished before. The Septuagint Bible (LXX) of the Ptolemaic Dynasty and the Greek version of the testimony of the subsequent Hellenistic Age became a New Testament totally presented in one language, the Vulgate Bible. The Vulgate was not simply a translation or transliteration, it was a more advanced and experienced rendition of the "arbitrary constellations" of the Mana-personality of humanity. The manna from heaven became the Son of God and that meant that the Self Intent of the Divine Father was united to Self Cognition and Self Empowerment as the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost in humanity.

Tertullian explained these Gnostic aspects that were derived from the Septuagint with a critical interpretation in Exodus 3:14.

Hebrew Septuagint, Exodus 3:14.

וַיֹּאמֶר אֶל־הַיָּם אֶל־מֹשֶׁה אֶהְיֶה אֲשֶׁר אֶרְאֶה אֶהְיֶה אֲשֶׁר אֶרְאֶה וַיֹּאמֶר

Clementine Latin Vulgate, Exodus 3:14.

Dixit Deus ad Moysen: EGO SUM QUI SUM. Ait: Sic dices filiis Israel: QUI EST, misit me ad vos.

God said to Moses: I AM WHO AM. He said: Thus shalt thou say to the children of Israel: HE WHO IS, hath sent me unto you.

Septuagint (LXX) Exodus 3:14 (Greek)

καὶ εἶπεν ὁ θεὸς πρὸς *μουσῆν ἐγὼ εἰμι ὁ ὢν καὶ εἶπεν οὕτως ἔρεῖς τοῖς υἱοῖς Ἰσραὴλ ὁ ὢν ἀπέσταλκέν με πρὸς ὑμᾶς

King James Version (KJV) Exodus 3:14 based on LXX

And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM: and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you.

The wording of Exodus 3:14 KJV represents a fundamental alteration of the Roman Catholic Vulgate Tenet regarding the identity of God. The Vulgate leaves the opening for a prodigal son to become a Son of God. All that is required is to know "What does the grail serve?" so that the question "Whom does the grail serve?" can lead to fulfillment. Because God is in the grail, the grail serves God. Mortals are not separate from God if they can claim, "I Am" through the Son of God. The variance is in "Whom does the grail serve?" It serves "I Am Who Am." The original Hebrew wording can be read "I Am That I am" and this carries a duality that separates God from Man, or Immortal from Mortal. If all are of the Body of Christ, then by assumption "I Am Who Am" must include mortals. The use of the word "that" signifies a distance not inclusive of "this" and "I Am That I Am" excludes mortals. This allows the Body of Christ to be taken off the Thau of the Cross. Thus, Christ suffered, and man was saved by the exclusion of "I Am This I Am." In the interpretation of St. Clement and St. Tertullian the mortal "I Am This I Am" is included in the immortal "I Am Who Am." As such, Roman Catholics must suffer to save Christ. This is confirmed in the ritual of the Roman Catholic Mass and the Catholic Way to the Lord. The apse of the Basilica of San Vitale shows the virgin cosmos surmounted by Christ the Redeemer. To his left is the Revelation of his Way, and to his right is the Sacred Life identified as where the duality of a mortal's staff, with beginning and ending, has a common pathology with the Cosmic Truth. In this image is the heart and soul of Democracy in the separation of church and state.

Mark 12:17

And Jesus answering, said to them: Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's. And they marvelled at him.

This claim was denied by the Protestants by the rise of nationalism after the Humanists brought about the Age of Enlightenment and Columbus inaugurated the Age of Discovery. The Age of Discovery began in 1492 AD. The Protestant Reformation began in 1517 AD, twenty five years later. It is very difficult to separate these events considering the substantial material wealth that was to come to Europe from the New World. George Washington pointed the mall of the national city toward Zaniah, the star the Arabs called "Harlot of Babylon." The purpose for doing so was to remind the citizens that tyranny is a choice, which Washington personally rejected. At the Basilica San Vitale the lack of stars on the cosmic sphere means that each mortal is free to create heaven on earth as they see Truth upon Earth in Heaven. This is the fundamental legacy of the Hellenistic Age, however corrupted it may have become. The corruption always comes when a few seek to control the many. There is no democracy without Truth, and no Truth without Christ, for any man with the mark Thau has learned in the school of hard knocks the difference between the Chosen and the Unchosen in the endurance of pain.

Jung's fathers and uncles were ministers of the Swiss Reform Church and his day dream at Basel Cathedral where Christ on his heavenly throne dropped destruction on the cathedral is very likely a result of the conflict Jung understood between the Catholic and Protestant tenets as influenced by the humanists. Through Depth Analysis Jung came to know the difference between humanist idealism and collective unconscious archetypes. Dr. Jung specifically denied the Enlightenment in Jung on Christianity with the words:

Things have gone rapidly downhill since the Age of Enlightenment, for, once this petty reasoning mind, which cannot endure any paradoxes, is awakened, no sermon on earth can keep it down.

To my knowledge, it appears that Jung never publicly addressed the spiritual conflict of his dream, probably as a result of his personal insistence that Individuation did not require it. Had Dr. Jung proved the "arbitrary constellations" were, in fact, not arbitrary, then he had the psychoanalytical tools to unravel the Mind of God. Had he done so, he would have realized that the archetypes of the collective unconsciousness are remnants of the cognitive intents of the Creator. It is difficult to believe that a man of the intellectual capacity of Jung could have refuted the "I Am Who Am" claim of Clement and Tertullian with their star charts in his hands.

That being said, we must not outlaw the means to Individuation. Rather, we have to complete Dr. Jung's quest, which was to bridge the breach that occurred due to what the Roman Catholic Church calls the 16th Century Heresies. It is very instructive to understand Dr. Jung's dialog on the subject of religion and science and the contents of the collective unconscious. Dr. Jung's Critical Truths
[Comments by EyeOfSiloam]

Now if my psychological researches have demonstrated the existence of certain psychic types and their correspondence with well-known religious ideas, then we have opened up a possible approach to those experienceable contents which manifestly and undeniably form the empirical foundations of all religious experience. The religious-minded man is free to accept whatever metaphysical explanations he pleases about the origin of these images; not so the intellect, which must keep strictly to the principles of scientific interpretation and avoid trespassing beyond the bounds of what can be known. Nobody can prevent the believer from accepting God, Purusha, the Atman, or Tao as the Prime Cause and thus putting an end to the fundamental disquiet of man. The scientist is a scrupulous worker; he cannot take heaven by storm. Should he allow himself to be seduced into such an extravagance he would be sawing off the branch on which he sits. [Jung seduced himself by allowances that sawed off the tree and left his branch in mid air using unsupported heuristic analysis.]

The fact is that with the knowledge and actual experience of these inner images a way is opened for reason [male] and feeling [female] to gain access to those other images which the teachings of religion offer to mankind.

Psychology thus does just the opposite of what it is accused of: it provides possible approaches to a better understanding of these things, it opens people's eyes to the real meaning of dogmas, and, far from destroying, it throws open an empty house to new inhabitants. I can corroborate this from countless experiences: people belonging to creeds of all imaginable kinds, who had played the apostate or cooled off in their faith, have found a new approach to their old truths, not a few Catholics among them. Even a Parsee found the way back to the Zoroastrian fire-temple, which should bear witness to the objectivity of my point of view. [Going to many empty wells and concluding all wells are empty is faulty conjecture. Faith is never certainty of things worthy of belief. The adept knows when to be certain, and never employs doubt, for primal doubt is sinister rational dementia. The "scientific" approach would have been to determine the number of faithful that could connect Plato's embroidery. Jung simply proved that it is easier to believe in God than to commune with lightning bolts and thunder, i.e., the voice of Zeus and Tlaloc, et. al.]

But this objectivity is just what my psychology is most blamed for: it is said not to decide in favour of this or that religious doctrine. Without prejudice to my own subjective convictions I should like to raise the question: Is it not thinkable that when one refrains from setting oneself up as an arbiter mundi and, deliberately renouncing all subjectivism, cherishes on the contrary the belief, for instance, that God has expressed himself in many languages and appeared in diverse forms and that all these statements are true—is it not thinkable, I say, that this too is a decision? [Not a personal decision if Synchronicity reveals common sense and communication occurs.] The objection raised, more particularly by Christians, that it is impossible for contradictory statements to be true, must permit itself to be politely asked: Does one equal three? How can three be one? Can a mother be a virgin? And so on. Has it not yet been observed that all religious statements contain logical contradictions and assertions that are impossible in principle, that this is in fact the very essence of religious assertion?

[Trinity as One and Virgin Mother represent the continuum that is Creation Science, an on going process. No event coming has ever reoccurred exactly and is, therefore, of the virgin. Trinity is a non-existent process that reveals its purpose in the created entities. Intent that does not consummate is intent not to intend. Thus, Intent, Cognition, and Conception cannot be separate to be fulfilled within the Virgin Prima Materia. Skeptical consciousness is intent not to intend, and by definition it is impotent. Jung's argument is that those who do not understand what they believe are not reliable in a universal form. That is very likely why there are so many forms of religious tenets. The fundamental tenet is that the Thorn Branch is skepticism and doubt. Beginning with these will not provide the means to evaluate any tenet, except the self fulfilling tenet of doubt. Heuristic analysis is empowered by rational judgment of belief.]

As witness to this we have Tertullian's avowal: "And the Son of God is dead, which is worthy of belief because it is absurd. And when buried He rose again, which is certain because it is impossible." [This is the crux of the revelation of Truth. If the Universal

Intent was not present with Cognition, the Son of God, the Universal Intent would remain chaotic nothing, which is absurd, and returning is, thereby, impossible, because the Divine Cognition of Intent cannot separate itself from Cognitive Intent, as was said before, impotent Intent is not Intent.] If Christianity demands faith in such contradictions it does not seem to me that it can very well condemn those who assert a few paradoxes more. [Tertullian was not paradoxical when he expressed common sense. The paradox is that common sense (Paraclete) was not present, and through depth psychology this requires that Intent, Cognition, and Conception be inseparable.] Oddly enough the paradox is one of our most valuable spiritual possessions, while uniformity of meaning is a sign of weakness. Hence a religion becomes inwardly impoverished when it loses or waters down its paradoxes; but their multiplication enriches because only the paradox comes anywhere near to comprehending the fullness of life. Non-ambiguity and non-contradiction are one-sided and thus unsuited to express the incomprehensible. [Assumption that God is incomprehensible is the fault. All comprehension is of God. But, a mortal does not have access to all comprehension. Mortality is like a line tangent against a circle. There, and only there, they share a common pathology and are comprehensible. This is the Martyr's Crown, where the martyr is the bipolar line and the circle is Self Perfection. Cognition of God is the guardian angel (Son of God) in the receptive Consciousness of Man (Son of Man).]

Detail of San Vitale's apse mosaic, dating from 526-47 AD. It depicts a youthful, clean-shaven Christ the Redeemer sitting on the sphere of the world, flanked by San Vitale (who is being handed a martyr's crown) two angels, and Bishop Ecclesius, who founded the church.

Not everyone possesses the spiritual strength of a Tertullian. It is evident not only that he had the strength to sustain paradoxes but that they actually afforded him the highest degree of religious certainty. [Truth is the ultimate paradox. The tangent point is on the circle of truth with out a measure of the radius.] The inordinate number of spiritual weaklings makes paradoxes dangerous. So long as the paradox remains unexamined and is taken for granted as a customary part of life, it is harmless enough. But when it occurs to an insufficiently cultivated mind (always, as we know, the most sure of itself) to make the paradoxical nature of some tenet of faith the object of its lucubrations, as earnest as they are impotent, it is not long before such a one will break out into iconoclastic and scornful laughter, pointing to the manifest absurdity of the mystery. [Jung's Basel Dream] Things have gone rapidly downhill since the Age of Enlightenment, for, once this petty reasoning mind, which cannot endure any paradoxes, is awakened, no sermon on earth can keep it down. A new task then arises: to lift this still undeveloped mind step by step to a higher level and to increase the number of persons who have at least some inkling of the scope of paradoxical truth. If this is not possible, then it must be admitted that the spiritual approaches to Christianity are as good as blocked. We simply do not understand any more what is meant by the paradoxes contained in dogma; and the more external our understanding of them becomes the more we are affronted by their irrationality, until finally they become completely obsolete, curious relics of the past. [This "always, as we know, the most sure of itself" logic says that the prodigal son that does not return to the father is more wise than the father by virtue of paternal impotent logic. Maybe Percival-Jung got lost in the abyss trying to determine, "What does the grail serve."] The man who is stricken in this way cannot estimate the extent of his spiritual loss, because he has never experienced the sacred images as his inmost possession and has never realized their kinship with his own psychic structure. But it is just this indispensable knowledge that the psychology of the unconscious can give him, and its scientific objectivity is of the greatest value here. Were psychology bound to a creed [such as a Jung cult] it would not and could not allow the unconscious of the individual that free play which is the basic condition for the production of archetypes. [Free play does not produce archetypes. Free play allows archetypes to take control. The dark archetypes are the sons of the gods that are not the Divine Cognition of Divine Intent, which include Ahriman, Seth, Hades, Satan, Seven Macaw, etc. Guardian angels pass on the Martyr's Crown.] It is precisely the spontaneity of archetypal contents that convinces, whereas any prejudiced intervention is a bar to genuine experience. If the theologian really believes in the almighty power of God on the one hand and in the validity of dogma on the other, why then does he not trust God to speak in the soul? Why this fear of psychology? [Fear of psychology is a phobia driven by man's lost soul, to which psychology denies a divine connection as the serpent of rationalized mind content consumes its own tale. Fear is never relevant regarding common sense with God, for Love is the Paraclete, and fear is the Devil's workbench] Or is, in complete contradiction to dogma, the soul itself a hell from which only demons gibber? [A true soul never gibbers, it communes.] Even if this were really so it would not be any the less convincing; for as we all know the horrified perception of the reality of evil has led to at least as many conversions as the experience of good.

Genesis 2:17 But of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat. For in what day soever thou shalt eat of it, thou shalt die the death.

Evil does not exist. Evil is the separation of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit from the Hieros Gamos with the Prima Materia of the Dark Matter. When a consciousness comes, judgment of life or death has already occurred. That which is conscious born will be based upon revealed archetypes; a primary Jungian hypothesis in John 16:11. The disconnection between sender and receiver does not kill consciousness, it prevents cognition of the sender. The consciousness that comes does not have to be of the content sent, i.e. Jung's daydream of Basil Cathedral. The rationalizing mind is free to associate, however, all associations are just the resurrection of the Collective Unconscious like the Fisher King. If the Fisher King is not self aware in Truth, the Fisher King must be carried around the kingdom on a litter like a man with a snorkel following his bubbles upside down in a deepening dive, "knowing not what he does."

Why Send a Zeus Thunder Bolt?

Now we must address the question, "Why send a Thunder Bolt to announce the return of the Men from Nineveh? The simple answer is that in the Sign of Jonas we are reminded that men of ancient justice from the Dawn of Western Civilization would come to judge the world for its injustices. Who announced that a Lord of Justice was coming?

From Hammurabi (c. 1772 BC) through Moses (c 1391-1271 BC) and the Hellenistic Age after Alexander (c. 323 BC) until the death of Cleopatra VII (c. 30 BC) we have three great legal traditions. The former were attempts to civilize by Rule of Law under a Patriarchy of a King of Kings. The latter was an attempt to provide self rule under a new political order called Democracy. Democracy failed at the death of Caesarean, Julius Caesar's son by Cleopatra. The whole Western Civil experiment failed and returned to One Man Rule as there was evidence that human beasts were not capable of civil discourse in the long run. This cycle was known as the Phoenix Cycle representing the dream of flight from a worm to the destruction of the Gaudy Bird by hubris over approximately 500 years. The creation of the Legend of the Fisher King has the same elements, origins, and destination.

It was the Sons of Shamash way back at the time of the founders of Civilization in Sumer who understood that civilization required rational order and a Book of Righteousness. These Peoples read the Book of Stars and discovered Cosmic Decrees. We have evidence of early forms of Civil Justice in "Tokens: The Cognitive Significance" by Denise Schmandt-Besserat dating as far back to 8000-3000 BC, from Syria to Persia and from Anatolia to Palestine as well as in parts of Eurasia ca 5000-4000 BC. The purpose of the "tokens" was to maintain "cognition" of contracts between merchants and producers, farmers and herdsman. The "tokens" were small artifacts of clay that tended to resemble products of a sales contract. They were enclosed in clay envelopes so that when the time was appropriate to make good on the contract the envelopes would be broken open and the tokens counted to restore cognition of the sales contract. Eventually, the tokens were pressed into the sides of the soft clay envelopes before they were fired and the impressions represent the first abstract writings. The purpose is very critical when we consider the return of the Men from Nineveh. These merchants were to come to judge the end of a contract season to ensure that a proper contract was fulfilled. From these experiences there were great books prepared to lead mankind out of the beast of Man Unkind (libido) into the angel of Man Kind (cognition).

Before the rise of civilization in Mesopotamia we have tribal cultures that wandered with the great migrating herds. Even these people provided us with evidence of a quest for righteousness. In the so-called Hall of Bulls at Lascaux, France there are aurochs—extinct cows—that tell a story of the righteousness of the Magdalenian Peoples over 17,000 years ago. The aurochs of Lascaux are all moving upward inside a mountain cave that has the shape of human female birthing organs. On the uterus wall of the Mother Mountain all the aurochs are headed to a place where the "cows come home." The righteousness was clearly that of Mother Nature. Thus, when civilization was formed, there was a split between the power of the nest, and the power of the street. Humans became "street smart." This made the streets a jungle more predatory than any pathway in a rain forest or a desert. It did not take long to realize that the streets needed rules to play by, and the result was the creeds of Human Cognition, as initially represented by the tokens identified by Schmandt-Besserat.

In the middle of the experiment to civilize mammon, came the Egyptians. The start of the Egyptians is not clear, but some authors have read message that say, "the sun has set twice where it now rises" in the Temple to Hathor at Denderah where the famous circular zodiac of the ages of the Earth are shown in the ceiling of the Osiris Chapel on the second floor of the temple. If we are to read this as a code for the ages based upon the precession of the equinoxes, then they describe a period of one and one half precession cycles, which are not a fixed period, but amount to approximately 39,000 years around 120 BC, or 41,000 years before the present (YBP). What can be clearly demonstrated at the Temple to Hathor is that the Hellenistic Ptolemaic Egyptians, who had assembled the great Library at Alexandria, had unraveled the time code of the "Rock of Ages" our Earth. In so doing, they had recovered the human experience on Earth (Hathor) since the times of the Cro-Magnon predecessors.

The available archeological evidence tells us that the Neanderthal species lived for some 250,000 years before the Cro-Magnon came on the scene. The Neanderthal were brutes well suited for their survival amongst huge beasts such as mammoths and saber tooth tigers. As such, we find no evidence of spiritual context in the cultures of the Neanderthal. Tool making and other such weapons of survival are a culture beyond the jungle animals, and for sure these devices took thousands of years to develop within the Neanderthal cultures. But, the Cro-Magnon brought something never found before. These "civilized beasts" fabricated beads and belts and other artifacts that gave them power that the much larger Neanderthals did not discover. The Power of the Spirit in a saber tooth tiger's tooth, or the skull of a predator allowed the Cro-Magnon to retain cognition of the mortality of the beasts they would hunt. The conscious of any animal is subject to the memory in the animal's body (libido), whether the stimuli still existed, or had passed on. The Cro-Magnon made very effective use of these spiritual sources, and they became the Master Species of the Earth. From that point onward the spirit of the beast belonged to the Masters of the Beasts. Libido always brought about prescience, but by the proper spiritual tokens the pre-Human Beast could maintain cognition of the self relative to the prey. Mankind was on a track to conquer Mother Nature.

Thus, when human civilization was founded some 30,000 years later, there was an unprecedented growth rate in the cognition of the human being. Like the modern Jungians the ancients identified various spirits of the libido as gods. The number of spirits, as Jung learned, is beyond the human mind to fathom. During the "perfecting" process of these gods there was a rise in male domination on a civil basis as the Wisdom of the Street became more powerful than the Wisdom of the Jungle. Males dominated the streets because there were many rationalized spirits to contend with. Females dominated the Jungle because senses have been, and always will be, the means to cognition in a jungle. The city streets never lost their jungle nature, but Great Men established rational laws so that the games of the street could be played with greater holistic success.

God

Mammon

Martyr's Crown in the Hand of Shamash is a Mortal's Dream.

Martyr's Crown in the Hand of Christ is the gift of Immortality.

At the Basilica to San Vitale in Ravenna, Italy we can see all the way back to the first laws givers of human civilization. Above the Apse of of the basilica there are two angels holding a Shamash symbol of the Sun. In the Judgment Car of Shamash to the lower right we see the "Birth Star" on a table. The star is actually the four pointed star with the vertical and horizontal orientation. Diagonally there are four "rivulets of water" that represent the Garden of Paradise. These rivulets represented the created world and the albumin of the egg of the Shamash four pointed star. This Wheel of Life, or Egg of Life, is held on the table by small loose blocks between it and the table top. A father (star) brings a son (star) to the Table of Judgment by the "right hand" and the son holds up a righteous right arm. Behind walks the doubly righteous Mother. Symbolically, the heart of the son is placed within the shell/wheel of life to judge his ability to become a star. This is the moment of consciousness at an Age of Enlightenment.

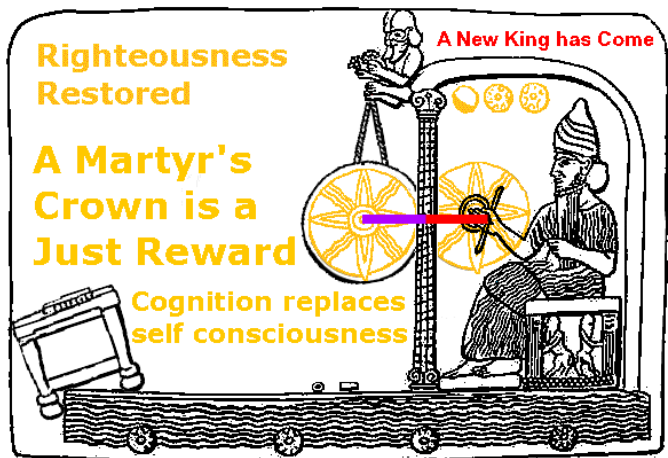

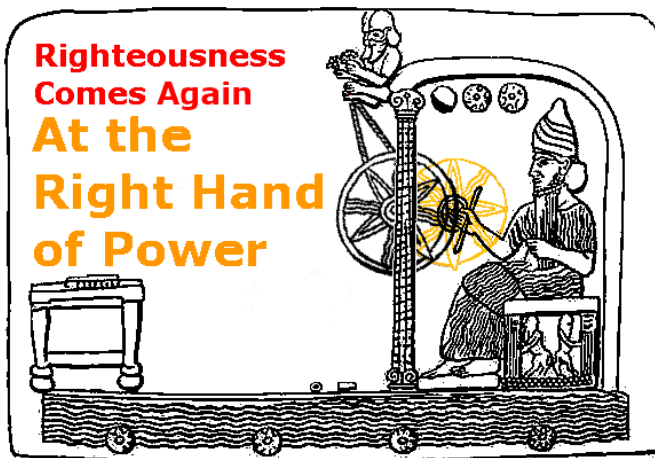

When the son is prepared with the words, "Bambi, you mother cannot be with you any more," a circumcision begins and the King on the Justice Car will raise his foot and kick the table out from under the vessel of the to be born star. If the egg tooth of the four point star, which was already piercing the shell while on the blocks, is prepared, then the egg tooth will fully puncture the shell and release the albumin in the shell. At this point the star son is at the moment of judgment by the Ruling Order rather than by Mother Nature.

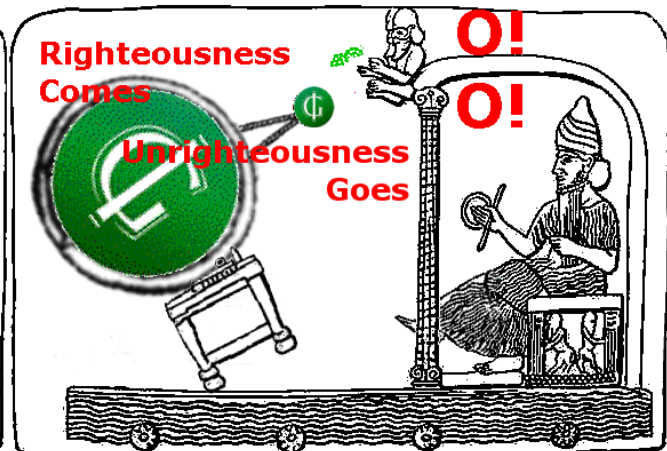

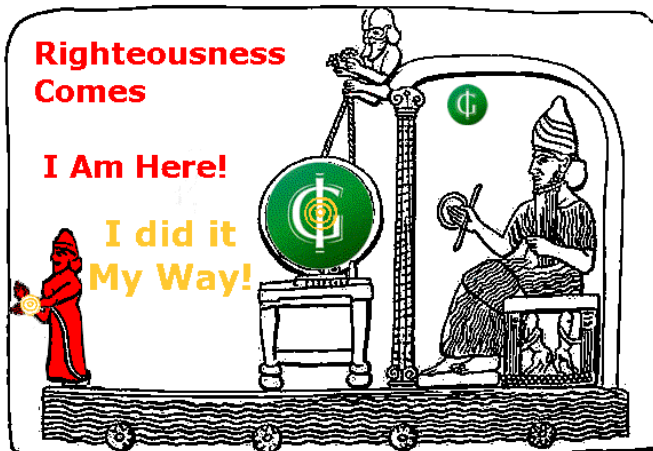

When a normal son is given the test and found to be equal to the challenge, that son becomes a subject of the king. The Judgment Table is positioned so that the Star Wheel swings and just touches the circle in the king's hand. The final resting place of the pendulum is with the side of the Star Wheel on the center of the column, and the Star Son has received immortality, but the kingdom is not moved.

When the parents of a Golden Calf bring their Star Son to the Judgment Car they do so with greater weight of the wealth of the kingdom. When the king starts the test the additional weight requires more force to cause the movement of the table and the added friction drags the Star Wheel away from the king. This sets up a pendulum with insufficient distance between the vertical axis of the pendulum point and the circle in the king's hand.

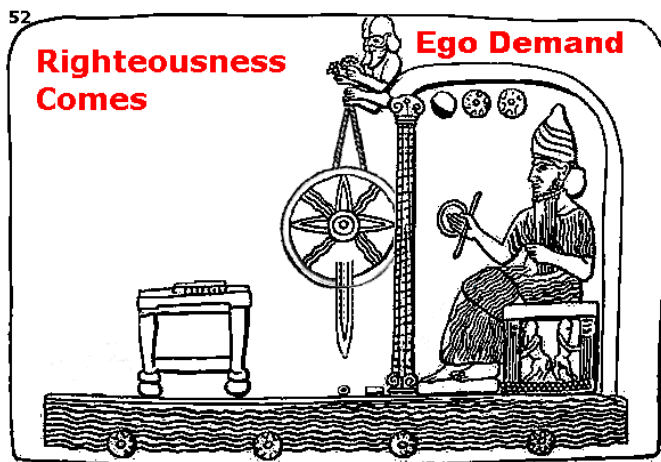

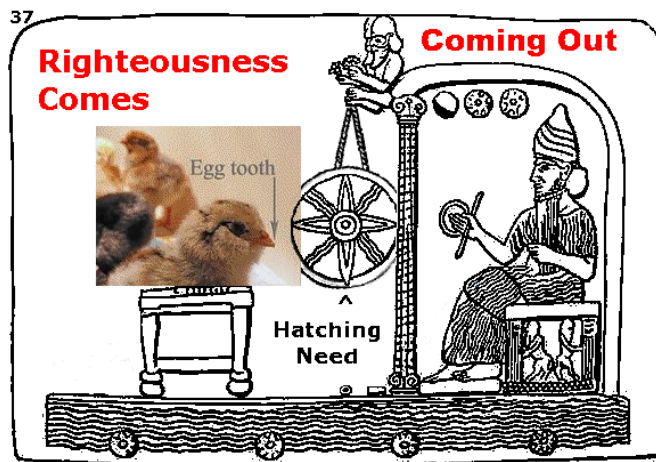

The result is that the extra force required to move the Golden Calf brings the Star Wheel of the Golden Calf into conflict with the perfection in the king's hand. The impact force passes through the strong righteous arm of the king and transfers energy to the Judgment Car such that the impact causes the Judgment Car to lurch to the right. The old king is displaced and the Judgment Car has a New King Enthroned with greater power than the previous king. The moral is a simple one. Select those who can do what a king wills and the kingdom will never move. To move a kingdom to the right, requires a Golden Calf with greatness surpassing the enthroned king. Great Leaders understand this rule of of the Law of Greatness. Tyrannical leaders never allow a Star Egg of a Golden Calf to be placed upon the Judgment Table.

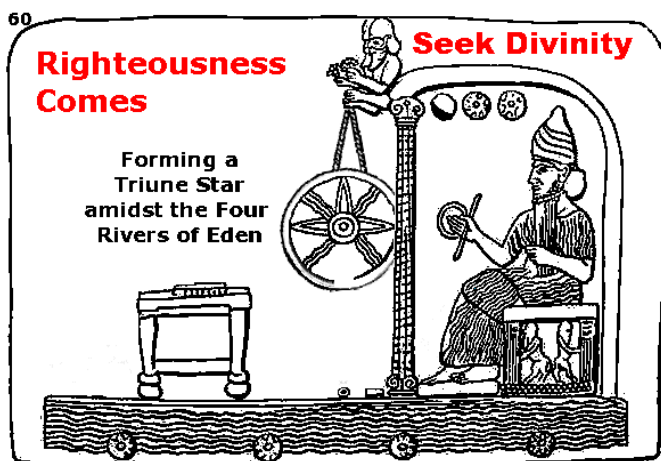

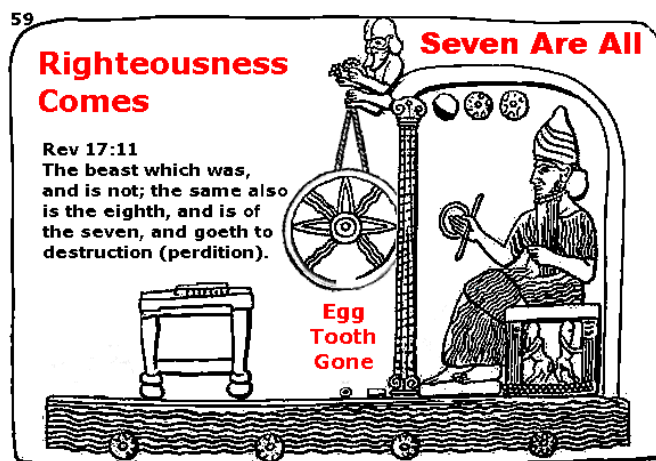

If we fully apply the laws of physics to the Shamash Judgment Car we discover that a False Star Son will become so attached to the table that before the False Star Son is released from the table, the King's Men will have lost their grip on the False Star Son. When they lose their grip, the whole Judgment Car moves to the right while the False Star Son is no longer attached to the Judgment Car. The False Star Son then flies off the Sinister end of the Judgment Car and goes to Perdition.

Without the Egg Tooth of an ego, the New Star Son will never cause the Judgment Car to move at all. If the ego is strong it can move the Judgment Car to the Right. If the ego is too strong, then it will be rejected and the Judgment Car will be better for the rejection and more Righteous as a result.

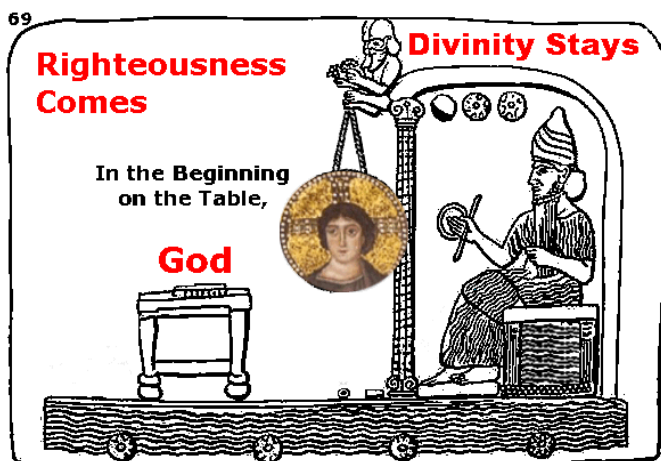

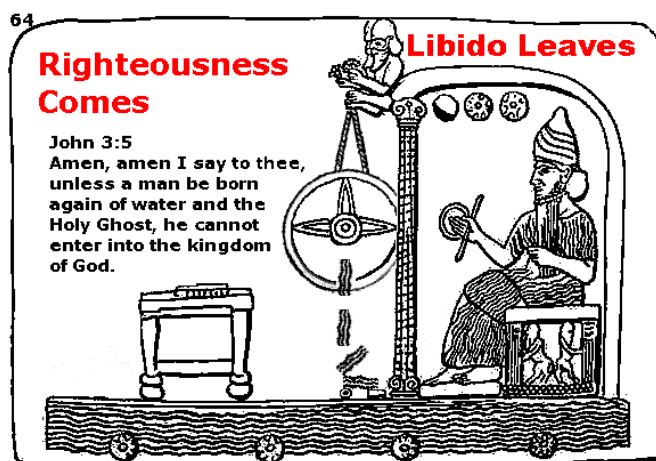

Like a chick, man has to come out of the shell of his Psyche. The device that brings a man out of the Psyche is the ego, a mental mechanism that appears to be powerful, yet it only needs to pierce a shell caused by fear. In turn, fear is the cause of ego strength.

Once the ego has done its revolutionary action, it is not needed, for in truth it was part of the organism, not of the Psyche. After losing the ego, the spirit is awash in incomprehensible fluidity. If allowed to harden, the Star cannot be set free from its shell of formation.

So, the True Star sheds the fluidity of its desire in order to prepare the House of the Lord. When the ego is gone and the libido replaced by ghosts of life past, a Holy Spirit delivers the result of an Immaculate Conception and what was just an ego shell becomes another Light of the World as it was first Intended in the Cognition of Being. I Am Who Am shines as a fulfillment of the birthing process of Man as God. The Human Ego is nothing less than God the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost locked inside the shell of a mortal mind. When that mortal mind can causes the Judgment Car to carry the body of the kingdom to which it is bound to the Right with Eternal Cognition, that mortal has achieved the Thunder Bolt from Zeus that is Divine Cognition and a Star is Reborn. Not that man was ever before, but that the Cognition in every man was once the Cognition in God for each man. That is how a Self Made Man meets his maker. The man earns, by righteousness, the title, Son of God.

In the Basilica to Sainted Life, the sacred essence called San Vitale, an Arc of a New Covenant is shown above and around a man with a Thau mark at his forehead. This man follows the ancient command of Man Eternal to become more than ever was before. By this action, whether, CEO, Father, Mother, or Friend, such being becomes one of whom it must be known, I Am Who Am, in an act of Self Perfection, i.e., Individuation by Truth.

Listen now to the three Sunday readings that were initiated at the Zeus Bolt of September 9, 2012.

September 9, 2012

Twenty-third Sunday in Ordinary Time, Lectionary: 128,

Reading 1 Is 35:4-7a

Thus says the LORD: Say to those whose hearts are frightened: Be strong, fear not! Here is your God, he comes with vindication; with divine recompense he comes to save you. Then will the eyes of the blind be opened, the ears of the deaf be cleared; then will the lame leap like a stag, then the tongue of the mute will sing. Streams will burst forth in the desert, and rivers in the steppe. The burning sands will become pools, and the thirsty ground, springs of water.

Reading 2 Jas 2:1-5

My brothers and sisters, show no partiality as you adhere to the faith in our glorious Lord Jesus Christ. For if a man with gold rings and fine clothes comes into your assembly, and a poor person in shabby clothes also comes in, and you pay attention to the one wearing the fine clothes and say, "Sit here, please, " while you say to the poor one, "Stand there, " or "Sit at my feet, " have you not made distinctions among yourselves and become judges with evil designs?

Listen, my beloved brothers and sisters. Did not God choose those who are poor in the world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom that he promised to those who love him?

Gospel Mk 7:31-37

Again Jesus left the district of Tyre and went by way of Sidon to the Sea of Galilee, into the district of the Decapolis. And people brought to him a deaf man who had a speech impediment and begged him to lay his hand on him. He took him off by himself away from the crowd. He put his finger into the man's ears and, spitting, touched his tongue; then he looked up to heaven and groaned, and said to him, "Ephphatha!"-- that is, "Be opened!" -- And immediately the man's ears were opened, his speech impediment was removed, and he spoke plainly. He ordered them not to tell anyone. But the more he ordered them not to, the more they proclaimed it. They were exceedingly astonished and they said, "He has done all things well. He makes the deaf hear and the mute speak."

Twenty-fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time, Lectionary: 131

Reading 1 Is 50:5-9a

The Lord GOD opens my ear that I may hear; and I have not rebelled, have not turned back. I gave my back to those who beat me, my cheeks to those who plucked my beard; my face I did not shield from buffets and spitting.

The Lord GOD is my help, therefore I am not disgraced; I have set my face like flint, knowing that I shall not be put to shame. He is near who upholds my right; if anyone wishes to oppose me, let us appear together. Who disputes my right? Let that man confront me. See, the Lord GOD is my help; who will prove me wrong?

Reading 2 Jas 2:14-18

What good is it, my brothers and sisters, if someone says he has faith but does not have works? Can that faith save him? If a brother or sister has nothing to wear and has no food for the day, and one of you says to them, "Go in peace, keep warm, and eat well, " but you do not give them the necessities of the body, what good is it? So also faith of itself, if it does not have works, is dead.

Indeed someone might say, "You have faith and I have works." Demonstrate your faith to me without works, and I will demonstrate my faith to you from my works.

Gospel Mk 8:27-35

Jesus and his disciples set out for the villages of Caesarea Philippi. Along the way he asked his disciples, "Who do people say that I am?" They said in reply, "John the Baptist, others Elijah, still others one of the prophets." And he asked them, "But who do you say that I am?" Peter said to him in reply, "You are the Christ." Then he warned them not to tell anyone about him.

He began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer greatly and be rejected by the elders, the chief priests, and the scribes, and be killed, and rise after three days. He spoke this openly. Then Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him. At this he turned around and, looking at his disciples, rebuked Peter and said, "Get behind me, Satan. You are thinking not as God does, but as human beings do."

He summoned the crowd with his disciples and said to them, "Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake and that of the gospel will save it."

Twenty-fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time, Lectionary: 134

Reading 1 Wis 2:12, 17-20

The wicked say: Let us beset the just one, because he is obnoxious to us; he sets himself against our doings, reproaches us for transgressions of the law and charges us with violations of our training. Let us see whether his words be true; let us find out what will happen to him. For if the just one be the son of God, God will defend him and deliver him from the hand of his foes. With revilement and torture let us put the just one to the test that we may have proof of his gentleness and try his patience. Let us condemn him to a shameful death; for according to his own words, God will take care of him.

Reading 2 Jas 3:16-4:3

Beloved: Where jealousy and selfish ambition exist, there is disorder and every foul practice. But the wisdom from above is first of all pure, then peaceable, gentle, compliant, full of mercy and good fruits, without inconstancy or insincerity. And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace for those who cultivate peace.

Where do the wars and where do the conflicts among you come from? Is it not from your passions that make war within your members? You covet but do not possess. You kill and envy but you cannot obtain; you fight and wage war. You do not possess because you do not ask. You ask but do not receive, because you ask wrongly, to spend it on your passions.

Gospel Mk 9:30-37

Jesus and his disciples left from there and began a journey through Galilee, but he did not wish anyone to know about it. He was teaching his disciples and telling them, "The Son of Man is to be handed over to men and they will kill him, and three days after his death the Son of Man will rise." But they did not understand the saying, and they were afraid to question him.

They came to Capernaum and, once inside the house, he began to ask them, "What were you arguing about on the way?" But they remained silent. They had been discussing among themselves on the way who was the greatest. Then he sat down, called the Twelve, and said to them, "If anyone wishes to be first, he shall be the last of all and the servant of all." Taking a child, he placed it in the their midst, and putting his arms around it, he said to them, "Whoever receives one child such as this in my name, receives me; and whoever receives me, receives not me but the One who sent me."
